Theft may bare smuggling ring

2nd airplane stolen in Chino

Thieves believed to be connected with a narcotics smuggling ring, stole a $60,000 six-seat airplane from the Chino Airport Monday for the second such theft in two weeks, West End sheriff's deputies reported.

The plane later Monday was found at another airport. And this time the thieves left some evidence behind that the stolen aircraft might have been used for some type of smuggling operation from Mexico or South America.

The Cessna 210, belonging to Lee Abbott, owner of Polar Chilled Products in Brea, was the same type and model as an aircraft stolen from the Chino airport on Feb. 16. Both airplanes are valued at $60,000 to $65,000 each. According to sheriff's detectives investigating the thefts, the aircraft was the fastest and had the longest range of any at the Chino Airport.

Abbott's aircraft, according to sheriff's deputies, turned up late Monday at San Fernando Valley Airport parked next to an airplane owned by an off-duty police officer. The plane's identification number had been altered and a number of marijuana seeds and other evidence of narcotics was found strewn on the floor of the plane, deputies said.

When thieves stole Abbott's plane they cut a lock on a hangar door, entered, and drilled a hole in the plane's plexiglass window to unlock it.

The thieves then removed three of the plane's six seats, Abbott's brief case and other personal effects and other items, stacking them neatly on the hangar floor, deputies said.

The aircraft then was rolled out of the hangar and the thieves carefully replaced a lock on the hangar door, similar to the one that was cut. The plane was flown out of the airport unnoticed.

Later Monday in San Fernando an off-duty police officer parked his plane next to a Cessna 210. The officer became suspicious of the aircraft when he noticed that the wing numbers had been altered and notified authorities. A check of the plane revealed it was owned by Abbott. The marijuana seeds were found on the floor of the aircraft.

Detectives said the plane was staked out Monday night, but the thieves never returned to the airport.

Deputies said that no trace of the first plane stolen from the Chino Airport has been found. The first plane was owned by Gary DeJager, an employe of Dairyland Hay Co. in Chino.

Detectives said when Abbott's plane was stolen it had approximately three hours of fuel on board, enough to fly at least 600 miles across the Mexican border. The thieves may have flown the aircraft into Mexico, picked up a cargo of marijuana and flown it back to San Fernando. The aircraft has a cargo capacity of 1,100 pounds.

House, Senate Demos at odds over gas tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate Democrats are apparently a long way from agreement on what should be done to solve the nation's energy and economic problems.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., head of the Senate Democratic ad hoc committee on energy, said today his panel members favor imposition of a graduated gasoline tax beginning at a nickle a gallon and slowly increasing as the economy improved.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., however, disclosed in a speech Monday that House Democrats want an increase of 16 cents a gallon by 1977, starting with an immediate eight cent boost.

O'Neill also told the Women's National Democratic Club that the House Democratic energy panel, headed by Rep. James C. Wright Jr. of Texas, also wants to reduce foreign oil consumption by 1 million barrels a day by 1977. The Senate Democrats have said they do not believe an import quota is necessary.

O'Neill also said the plan includes a rebate paid to each household for necessary driving.

President Ford has repeatedly criticized Democrats in Congress for not coming up with an alternative plan to his energy-economy proposals.

Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad dies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Elijah Muhammad, spiritual leader of the Nation of Islam, better known as the Black Muslims, died today at Mercy Hospital after suffering congestive heart failure more than three weeks ago. He was 77.

He entered Mercy hospital on Jan. 29, and a few days later the heart problem was announced. His condition had been termed critical since that time.

Elijah Muhammad once said he had seen enough of the white man's brutality to last 26,000 years.

Born Elijah Poole on Oct. 7, 1897, on a patch of cotton land on a white man's plantation, the son of two former slaves, he grew to become Elijah Muhammad, "messenger of Allah," spiritual leader of the Nation of Islam, better known as the Black Muslims, and a strong advocate of black separatism.

"I am teaching separation of the races because God has chosen us, he's asking us to leave the white man," Muhammad once said.

"There is no hope for us with the children of our slavemasters," he said. "Any white man who wants to keep his race white —he's a man."

He called for unity and racial purity among black persons and told his followers in 1962 that "with the help of Allah ... you will start a civilization for yourselves in the next 20 to 25 years."

His dream of a Nation of Islam was to be a territory to be set apart in the United States or procured elsewhere with the help of American whites.

White persons, he said, should help with the building of the black nation to compensate for the black man's 400 years of oppression.

Until such a promised land could be established, Muhammad called for equal opportunity.

Nikolai Bulganin succumbs at 79

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nikolai Bulganin, the courtly commissar upstaged by earthy Nikita S. Khrushchev during their two-man Kremlin rule, died in obscurity at the age of 79, it was reported today.

The official Tass news agency said Bulganin, who charmed the world with his 19th century manners before his boisterous partner banished him, died Monday after "a serious protracted illness."

Bulganin, an Old Bolshevik comrade of V.I. Lenin, Leon Trotsky and Josef Stalin, lived the last years of his life on a $390-a-month pension in a government-furnished dacha outside Moscow.

Khrushchev overshadowed Bulganin from the moment the pair emerged as rulers of the Soviet Union in 1955, following the fall of Stalin's successor, Georgi Malenkov.

WITCHCRAFT VICTIM?

Authorities in Australia theorized that a witchcraft sacrifice led to the killing of a young woman whose left arm was severed. Police reported that a clay figure (right) of a woman without a left arm was found only 15 miles from where the victim's nude body washed ashore on a resort beach near Melbourne. Police released a sketch (left) of the unidentified woman.

Area contractor robbed of $400,000 in jewelry

A Claremont contractor was robbed of $400,000 in jewelry and $1,500 in cash during a weekend trip to San Francisco, police reported.

The victim, James T. Elliott, 28, told San Francisco police that two men armed with pistols burst into his 15th floor room at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, gagged him, tied him with masking tape and fled with his two suitcases containing the jewelry.

Police said that Elliott had kept the brown cases containing the jewelry with him at all times during the trip from Los Angeles and had decided against putting them in the hotel safe.

They reported that Elliott told them he recalled seeing a suspicious-looking man get out of the elevator behind him as he was going to his room Saturday. About 10 minutes later, officers said, someone knocked on the door, called his name and then burst inside when he opened it.

Authorities reported that Elliott has been converting cash assets into jewelry holdings for a number of years, and quoted him as having said it would have looked suspicious to have put the cases in the hotel safe.

The victim could not be reached today for his comment.

Dean feels Ford might pardon top Nixon aides

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — John Dean, who served a fraction of his one- to four-year term for Watergate crimes, says it is conceivable former top White House confidants John Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman could get out of going to prison at all.

"I could see President Ford pardoning Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell," Dean said Monday while in Cambridge to address 1,200 persons at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The former White House counsel, who testified for the government and spent four months in prison for his role in the Watergate coverup, predicted there was "minimal chance" the former White House aides "will succeed in keeping themselves out of prison."

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman were sentenced Friday to 2½ to 8 years each in prison for participating in the scandal.

Their appeals may take two years. Dean predicted none of the three men will win a new trial or a reversal of the verdict.

He said he hoped Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman would choose to cooperate with federal prosecutors in unraveling the tangled web of Watergate, after which he said the three might expect reductions in their prison sentences.

Dean said his role in the scandal was caused by ambition.

"I got blinded by my own ambition —my own desire to get ahead," he said. "I knew what pleased my superiors, and I did my best to please them."

Watergate, Dean said, was "inevitable," given the personalities of Nixon and the advisers he chose to surround himself with in the White House. He labeled the breakin at the Democratic National Headquarters and the ensuing coverup a "natural" reaction.

"When I returned to my office at the White House two days after the breakin," Dean recalled, "there was never any question about what was going to be done. It was 'coverup' from moment one and from word one."

Without aid, Cambodia will fall in few weeks, Ford, Kissinger claim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger simultaneously predicted today that Cambodia will fall to the communists within a few weeks unless Congress provides additional military and economic aid.

Ford made the prediction in a letter to House Speaker Carl Albert and Kissinger reinforced it during a news conference in which he discussed the situation in Cambodia.

Pleading for more aid, Ford told Albert the issue of aid to Cambodia is "a moral question that must be faced squarely."

"Are we to deliberately abandon a small country in the midst of its life and death struggle?" he asked. "Is the United States, which so far has consistently stood by its friends through the most difficult of times now to condemn, in effect, a small Asian nation totally dependent on us?"

Both Ford and Kissinger predicted the government of President Lon Nol would run out of ammunition in a month under present circumstances. Without more U.S. aid, they said, the government would be forced to surrender in "a few weeks."

Their estimate was more pessimistic than previous forecasts. Kissinger's aides earlier indicated the Cambodian government could hold out for a month or two.

"An independent Cambodia cannot survive unless the Congress acts very soon to provide supplemental military and economic assistance," Ford wrote. "Unless such assistance is provided, the Cambodian army will run out of ammunition in less than a month.

"If additonal military assistance is withheld or delayed the government forces will be forced, within weeks, to surrender to the insurgents."

"It has been a basic policy of this government to give material support to friends and allies who are willing and able to carry the burden of their own self-defense. Cambodia has been such an ally."

Kissinger added that "the decision (facing Congress) is whether to withhold ammunition from a country that has been associated with us."

The administration has asked Congress to provide additional aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia above the amount already budgeted. Ford considers the aid to Cambodia especially critical because of powerful insurgent forces who have beseiged Phnom Penh, cutting off all suppilies except those brought in by air lift.

L.A. getting stock exchange from S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After 93 years, San Francisco is losing the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange to Los Angeles. But the old facilities will get a new role —in the burgeoning option market.

The move, subject to approval by members and the Securities and Exchange Commission, was confirmed Monday by exchange president G. Robert Ackerman.

"This is very bullish for the Pacific Stock Exchange," said Ray Moore, Seattle, an options specialist for 13 years. "They'll be able to concentrate their stock business in Los Angeles and use the facility in San Francisco for a whole new business.

Gov. Brown orders all gifts to him and staff returned

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s office has begun returning more than $5,000 worth of unsolicited gifts, passes and free memberships sent to the governor since his election Nov. 5.

Brown Monday said the more than 150 gifts and gratuities included a painting appraised at $2,000, an encyclopedia, two gilded eagles, a 1975 gold pass to Disneyland and a membership to an exclusive tennis club.

The governor said in a news release he has adopted a policy of accepting no gifts "regardless of value or motive." Brown said a similar policy is in effect for his staff.

He said many of the gifts and gratuities have come from special interest groups including oil companies, a pharmaceutical firm, public officials, race tracks and other industrial associations as well as individual firms.

New low for dollar on European market

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. dollar fell to new alltime lows on European money markets today. Dealers said it was because the oil-producing countries were dumping their huge dollar holdings and investing in more stable currencies.

"To all appearances, the dollar runback was caused by heavy dollar sales by Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which appear to be investing in German marks, Swiss francs and other currencies for some reason or another," an American banker in Frankfurt said.

For the second consecutive day, the dollar sank to an alltime low in Zurich and Amsterdam. It was 2.3615 guilders in Amsterdam against 2.3715 Monday.

2 gunmen hold up police property room, take money held as evidence

DALLAS (UPI) — Two masked bandits held up the police property room Monday night, rifled the office safe and escaped with $21,897, money that was to be used as evidence in criminal trials.

The bandits set up the scheme with a telephone call to the property division at 7 p.m. Clerk Roger White, who answered the call, said a woman, who identified herself as a policewoman investigating a burglary, told him to come to a phony address with his city truck to pick up a stereo set.

White left and another clerk, Charles Levy, 38, was the only one left in the building, which is not located in the main police headquarters.

Levy said two men wearing black ski masks walked through the unlocked door of the office at 7:15, pointed a small caliber pistol at him and told him they wanted the money or they would shoot him.

Levy took the men through an office to an inner room and unlocked the vault, which was nothing more than a closet with a wooden door secured by a hasp and a padlock.

The unlocked police safe was inside the closet and the bandits emptied the safe, containing a number of brown envelopes filled with money, into a card board box. The bandits locked Levy inside the closet and escaped.

White, who learned he had been tricked, returned to the office 45 minutes later and freed Levy.

$80 million plan to aid education seems doomed; Brown opposes it

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Brown administration has dealt a major and perhaps fatal blow to a measure providing California schools with almost $80 million in "urgent" inflation assistance.

The administration Monday declared its opposition to the measure during a hearing of the Senate Finance Committee, and the panel later voted 7-4 to delay action on the bill (SB89) until next month.

Chuck Harper, a budget manager for Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., said it was too late in the school year for the money to be spent for educational programs, meaning it would go mostly for teacher salaries and raises.

The measure was authored by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, who called it a modest attempt to help schools meet inflation. About 400 teachers and parents last week rallied on the Capitol steps in support of the bill.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post predicted the bill, which also provides extra school aide in coming years, probably would mean a state tax increase. Brown has said he would veto any bill this year resulting in a tax increase

Teachers and administrators warned that without extra financial help, schools faced deep cuts in educational programs this year, and huge budget deficits next year.

"I don't think this bill is viable anymore from the position of the administration," said Senate Education Committee Chairman Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento.

The committee put off action until a related bill (SB220) by Rodda can be heard simultaneously. It would provide an additional $120 million in school assistance beginning next year.

"Somewhere, someting has got to be done to insure our youngsters get an education," said Hayward Schools Superintendent Raymond G. Arveson. "These are days when we need more for schools, not less."

Despite the setback, Dills declined to give up. He held out hope that it could be amended to win support from legislators and Brown. The bill already has been scaled down from $280 million as originally proposed.

Brown Monday met privately with Senate Democrats and Senate President Pro Tem James Mills, D-San Diego, said the governor reaffirmed his vow not to raise taxes during the coming fiscal year.

"This is going to have great implications for teachers and for education," Mills said.

State board proposed

Juries eliminated in 2 medical malpractice bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state compensation board to handle medical malpractice claims would be created under two rival bills introduced in the Assembly.

Prompted by heavy losses, insurance companies recently announced they will cancel or substantially increase the cost of malpractice insurance, creating a crisis for 40,000 California physicians.

The bills, by Assemblymen Bob McLennan, R-Downey, a physician, and Barry Keene, D-Eureka, would remove claims settlement from the hands of juries which have granted awards averaging more than $1 million a month during the last year in California.

Both pieces of legislation would set up a state Medical Injury Compensation Commission, similar to the state Workmen's Compensation Board, to determine if a patient is entitled to compensation and make awards based on a set schedule.

McLennan, the legislature's only physician, said his bill also would give the commission discretion to refer cases of physician incompetence to the state Board of Medical Examiners for review and possible disciplinary action.

McLennan's measure would not preclude the right of an individual to seek an additional settlement through the courts.

Keene's bill would permit the commission to make awards for medical care, rehabilitation, vocational training and lost earnings. Under his proposal, the commission would be assisted by medical and consumer advisory councils.

Solons complain Brown's logging plan skirts law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s plan to speed up state approval of logging operations has come under fire from lawmakers.

Following an Assembly committee hearing where administration officials unveiled details of the plan, several lawmakers Monday said the plan was unnecessary and usurped the power of the legislature and the courts.

Claire Dedrick, secretary of resources, told the Assembly Resources and Land Use Committee that the plan integrated court-required environmental impact reports and the recently adopted state Forest Practice Act in a "new and imaginative way."

But committee member Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, said Brown's plan has been developed in a manner which "usurped legislative and judicial authority."

Warren said the administration's approach ignores the fact that a court has held that logging plans require environmental impact statements and sidesteps statutes where the legislature spelled out what the statements must contain.

Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Eureka, another committee member, noted a judge last week stayed the court ruling pending an appeal.

Angry loggers have complained that if the state requires the complicated environmental statements it would cause them undue delays and paperwork, forcing many timber operations out of business.

Brown's executive order dealing with logging operations was announced last week in the wake of a Humboldt County Superior Court ruling that timber cutting was subject to the Environmental Quality Act which requires lengthy environmental impact reports on major new projects.

Chino year-round school draws candidates' fire

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

As expected, year-round school emerged as the major issue at a public forum Monday night for candidates in the race for three seats on the Chino School Board.

YRS, in its first year throughout the Chino School District, has become a main target for five of eight candidates in next Tuesday's election.

The five challengers all have called for an immediate re-evaluation of the program, and most have been sharply critical of YRS. The three incumbents have strongly supported the plan.

Although some opposing views were evident, and minor clashes occurred, the forum sponsored by the Parents Council and Associated Chino Teachers was relatively mild. About 100 persons gathered for the session in Chino High School's multipurpose room.

All eight candidates showed up, and they all had comments, pro and con, on YRS.

Four of them — challengers Pat Hooven, Lyle Briggs, and John Barcelona, and incumbent Pete VanderPoel —had the strongest words.

Hooven called for an unbiased survey of parents on YRS, saying previous surveys have not been objective.

"YRS was shoved down our throats," complained Hooven. "It was implemented with too much speed and didn't receive the reaction it should have from the community."

Briggs argued that only one district school — Walnut Elementary — might need YRS because of an overloaded student population. "If schools don't need the program, it's a waste of money, keeping the facilities going all year."

Barcelona charged that YRS has been beset with "so much controversy" that it has created an "unhealthy atmosphere" in the district. Teacher protests are being ignored, he added.

He said he objects to YRS and traditional students in the same classes together, and different grade levels in the same classrooms.

VanderPoel stated he was not ashamed of voting for YRS as a board member. "Concerning the growth we were facing, and the fact we needed additional classroom space, we needed an alternate plan to the one we had. If we went back to a traditional program now, the district would require two new schools. The cost, including the bonding program, would be around $8 million to eliminate YRS."

VanderPoel took a swipe at those opposing YRS. "The opposition to year-round school is doing the community a disservice."

Later, VanderPoel disagreed strongly with two statements made by Barcelona.

Barcelona claimed Chino students scored in only the 20th percentile on statewide reading tests in 1973-74, meaning 75 per cent of California students scodred higher. VanderPoel disputed the claim, and suggested that Barcelona "learn how to read percentiles."

In response to a charge by Barcelona that 85 per cent of Chino High teachers recently rejected a proposed extension of YRS to 10th grade, VanderPoel said the survey did not include all CHS teachers. "And what about all the other schools in the district? How do they feel?"

Incumbents Charles (Chuck) Smith, and Eva Weiszbrod, and challengers Pat Rodriquez and Roy Ward also offered comments on YRS.

Smith stated YRS was "a good move, as long as we offer an equal or better education than on the traditional program."

He added a number of district schools would be on double sessions now if there was a return to traditional. Intersession is a strong point of YRS, he said, because students have 12 weeks now compared to four to six weeks in traditional summer school.

Mrs. Weiszbrod said most opposition to YRS is coming from Chino High teachers, who are "not involved in the program." If a poll was taken now of teachers in the program, "you'd find a different situation."

Mrs. Rodriquez said her children "are very unhappy" with YRS.

Ward said YRS is "a sound system per se" but the way it's been run in Chino, "it's been a farce."

Other issues emerged at the session, but debate on them was muted.

Ward said, as director for a boys home in Pomona, that he was concerned about alleviating the delinquency problem in the schools.

Weiszbrod, Smith and VanderPoel assured the audience they are concerned about the quality of education for each child, and about an "equal education."

Smith expressed an interest in vocational courses for youngsters, and Hooven, a former teacher, said he was a "logical choice" for the board because of his knowledge about education.

While Briggs opted for "basic education" for children, Mrs. Rodriquez called for better communication between the board and the community.

State briefs

250 farm workers marching to winery

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — Protesting farm workers say their march through the heart of California's rich agriculture country toward the nation's largest winery is "going swell."

About 250 persons were marching through the central valley Monday, the United Farm Workers Union said, and a group of clergy was coming from St. Louis to join the marchers Tuesday.

The target of the farm workers union marchers is the giant E.&J. Gallo Winery. Both the Farm Workers and the Teamsters Union want to represent grape workers at the winery.

Gallo says it is caught in the middle of a jurisdictional battle between the two unions.

Legislator proposes state push car pools

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An influential Democratic assemblyman has introduced legislation requiring the state to step up its plans for carpools in metropolitan areas.

The bill (AB918) by Charles Warren, chairman of the Energy Committee, requires the Department of Transportation to initiate computerized car pooling services in San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Barbara, Fresno and San Diego.

Claremont school session

Candidates divided on cutbacks

More than 150 concerned residents of the Claremont Unified School District Monday night attended the second of three public forums at Sycamore Elementary School and heard five school board cnadidates handle differently a question on the first item he would propose cutting from the district's budget.

Forest Harrison stressed the district's administrative staff overload compared with 41 other districts, but he said that all options should be explored before any cuts are made.

William Johnson said that within community organizations such as Family Service and Tri-City Mental Health Authroity the district can find help for high school—age students.

Incumbent Mary Ellen Kilsby said that it would be an easy but simplistic way to say sports will be cut, but "we've got to look at everything. With belt-tightening, let's look at the total program across the board."

Gus Kitterle noted that the present school board will not make any comments on program cuts.

Ernest Taylor, seeking re-election after a two-year absence, stressed that out of a $9 million budget, 78 to 81 per cent is spent in salaries. "We must look at salaries across the board," he said.

About 150 persons attended the first public forum last Thursday night, a clear departure from the sparse attendance of a candidate night two years ago.

Four of the five candidates said they favor the proposed $1 tax override which the voters will decide March 4.

Kitterle's only proposal was for modification of the module system at Claremont High. He said he is not in favor of a system that allows children to leave school anytime they want.

"The module system is good for a few, but not for all," he said.

Harrison urged that the board make no program cuts during the 1975-76 school year, but go deeply into reserves. He said that empty classrooms could be used for a proposed $35,000 day care center funded federally.

Mrs. Kilsby said that some problems must be worked out with the district's facilities use task force. "Nothing for the task force is set in concrete. The task force must set up criteria for use of facilities."

Johnson said he believes in a "relaxed atmosphere where children can learn. Results of our educational system speak for themselves. We should pick the richest possible program with the money available."

Taylor said he favors the override election, but the override "should not be a blank check to the district. We can't keep looking to the state for more money."

The first hour of the two-hour meeting was spent with District Supt. R. S. Kirkendall and retiring board member Bob Stafford explaining the need for the $1 tax override for the next three years.

Demos move to force vote on oil depletion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats voted today to force a floor vote on a proposal to end one of the oil industry's biggest tax breaks, the oil depletion allowance.

The Democratic caucus, after two hours of debate, voted to instruct the House Rules Committee to allow a floor vote on a move to attach the depletion allowance repeal to a pending $21.3 billion tax cut measure.

That bill contains rebates of up to $200 of 1974 taxes.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which drafted the tax bill, voted earlier to ask the Rules Committee to bar any vote on oil depletion. The Ways and Means Committee feared the controversial issue would delay final passage of the tax cut bill.

But Rep. William J. Green, D-Pa., said following the 153-98 caucus vote that this was "a phony argument."

Green and other liberals asked for the special caucus to overturn the Ways and Means decision and to bind the Democrats on the Rules Committee to insist on a floor vote on the depletion amendment.

The Rules Committee acts as a "traffic cop" for the House, deciding which bills may reach the House floor and how they may be amended.

The bill is tentatively scheduled for action Thursday if it does not bog down in the Rules Committee, which probably will meet Wednesday.

The caucus also voted in favor of a floor vote on an amendment by Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Tex., which would allow small oil producers — those producing less than 3,000 barrels per day of oil —to continue receiving the 22 per cent depletion allowance.

Several lobbying groups that have been pushing for elimination of the 50-year-old depletion allowance praised the caucus action. Common Cause said the Democrats had taken the first step to "retire a granddaddy of special interest tax preferences."

The bill contains $8.1 billion in rebates of 1974 taxes amounting to 10 per cent of the taxes you must pay by April 15, up to a maximum of $200. Above $20,000 in income, however, this would come down. Anyone making more than $30,000 would get only a $100 rebate.

Also in the bill is $8.1 billion in 1975 tax cuts for individuals, brought about by increasing the standard deduction, and $5.1 billion in business tax cuts and investment tax incentives for 1975 and 1976.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Movies of crime, wiretapping, dope and disaster led the Academy Award nominations, headed by "Chinatown" and "Godfather Part II," with 11 nominations apiece.

Both were nominate Monday for the best movie Oscar by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, along with "The Conversation," "Lenny" and "The Towering Inferno."

The Oscars will be awarded April 8.

Israeli pull-out plan agreement?

By United Press International

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has drawn up a Middle East peace agreement that provides for Israeli withdrawal from two strategic passes and valuable oil fields in the Sinai Desert, an Egyptian newspaper said today.

Another Cairo newspaper said Kissinger will arrive in Egypt March 7 to hammer out agreement on the pact.

Seven injured in car crash

A Buena Park man injured in a traffic accident on Euclid Avenue near Eugene Court Saturday evening remained in fair condition this morning at San Antonio Community Hospital.

Upland police said Michael Dennis Dudek, 34, and six other persons were riding in a southbound car on Euclid Avenue about 7:30 p.m. Saturday when it left the road and crashed into a tree in the median strip of Euclid Avenue.

All persons in the car including Dudek; Anita Katherina Dudek, 18, his daughter and driver of the vehicle; Antoinette Dudek, 14 months; Floydy Doyle Dudek; Michael Dennis Dudek, Jr., 9; Carey Coutre, 10; and Steven Victor Sword, 11; suffered injuries in the accident. The father was the only member of the family seriously injured. He is in San Antonio Community Hospital.

Cause of house fire sought

Upland fire inspectors are attempting to determine the exact cause of a fire Sunday evening that gutted the bedroom of an apartment at 1533 W. 11th St. causing an estimated $3,500 damage.

The apartment's occupant, Jill Birge, had left the apartment nearly six hours before the blaze was reported at 6:37 p.m. When firemen arrived the entire bedroom was engulfed in smoke and flames. Firemen said the fire had destroyed a bedset, several pieces of bedroom furniture and the occupants clothing.

Inspectors said it appeared the origin of the fire was on the nightstand or in a pile of clothing near the bed. Damage to the sturcture was estimated at $2,500 while damage to its contents was estimated at $1,000.

Predicts Americans will meet crisis

Will make sacrifices, says Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford predicted today Americans will meet the current economic-energy crisis by making the same "necessary sacrifices" as they did during the American Revolution, two world wars and the Depression.

Ford reviewed America's history of hard times in a speech to the National Bicentennial Conference. He then prepared to fly to Florida for an overnight trip to promote his antirecession program.

"Each generation has been called on to accept the challenge of a different crisis," he told some 500 delegates to the bicentennial commission meeting. "Each generation has lived up to its responsibility."

He said he expected the nation's "new difficulties" — inflation, recession and energy shortages —would be met with the same hard work and tenacity.

"No generation of Americans has failed to accept the necessary sacrifices of the day," he said. "I am convinced we will not fail ourselves or future generations."

Leaving the bicentennial meeting for an unannounced speech to a Women's Forum on National Security in an adjoining ballroom, Ford nonetheless indicated he did not intend for the nation to sacrifice its military strength.

He strongly defended his proposed defense budget and thanked the group of 800 women for their support of the armed forces. Thee women included members of auxiliaries of 18 national veterans organizations.

"Peace depends on a strong defense," Ford said, adding that a cut in the defense budget would be "a gamble with our future, our security, our freedom." Ford began his appearance at the bicentennial meeting by reviewing a line of about 60 youngsters dressed in Continental Army dress and tricorner hats.

In the Depression, Ford said, "... millions of Americans living today did not fail us. They pulled themselves together and kept the nation going.

"In two world wars, Americans gave their time . . . talent . . . resources . . . and many lives, to keep the cause of freedom alive. They did not fail us.

"In unhappy times and unpopular wars, Americans accept the challenge. No generation of Americans has failed to accept the necessary sacrifices of the day. I am convinced we will not fail ourselves or future generations.

"Today, we face challenges —our economic and energy problems. New perceptions and new priorities are required to meet new difficulties."

Solutions to the nation's economic and energy problems, Ford said, "will require the same hard work and tenacity required to wage a succesful revolution, establish a working government, carve a civilization out of wilderness, produce the greatest industrial machine ever and develop the highest standard of living in any nation of the world."

Boost in money supply will aid recovery--Burns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns predicted today a faster expansion of the money supply in coming months —and resulting lower interest rates and increased credit availability.

Burns told the Senate Banking Committee an increase in available money already achieved through the Fed's operations has produced a dramatic decline in short-term interest rates and prepared financial conditions for a recovery from the recession.

The money supply is the amount of currency in circulation and money in checking accounts. When it expands, interest rates generally decline and loans for business and home buyers are more obtainable.

"Forces have now been set in motion that will, I believe, soon result in a quicker pace of monetary and credit expansion," Burns said. "Actually, that process may already be underway....

"The Federal Reserve intends to encourage expansion in supplies of money and credit needed to mitigate recessionary forces and encourage early recovery in economic activity."

But Burns warned, "We have not thrown caution to the wind ... the menace of inflation is by no means behind us."

Pair robs shoe store, ties up clerk

A Pomona shoe store employe was robbed and tied up Tuesday by two men, one of whom had a .45-caliber pistol.

The victim, Manuel Enriques, said the pair entered Kinney's Shoe Store, 390 W. Foothill Blvd., showed the weapon and ordered him to open the safe. They also looted the cash register before using adhesive tape to tie him up.

Enriques was found about 10 minutes later by a customer who freed him. In addition to the store's cash, the robbers also took Enriques' wedding ring.

SPOTLIGHT ON CRIME

The gunman was described as a Caucasian, 20 to 25 years old 5 feet 11 weighing 185 pounds. He wore a white polo shirt, blue trousers and had short, brown hair.

Also in POMONA, two men robbed the Jiffy Self Service gas station at 2094 S. Garey Ave., Tuesday afternoon. An employe, Toni Lynn Souza, 18, said one gestured as if he had a pistol in his pocket and forced her to surrender money before they fled in a car driven by a third man.

The leader was a Caucasian about 22, weighing 150 pounds and standing 6 feet 2. He wore a plaid shirt, knit cap and had reddish-brown hair and a full beard.

ONTARIO resident Marlin Linhert of 689 Vernon Drive, reported to police that he returned home early Sunday morning and discovered burglars had broken in and stolen a portable black and white television and nearly $4,000 in cash, checks and bonds.

Police said this morning they have no leads in the burglary.

In another ONTARIO burglary City Councilwoman Faye Dastrop of 761 W. Hawthorne St. reported to police that burglars had broken into her home Sunday night or early Monday and stolen a camera, camera lens, a movie camera, savings bonds and stamps, a coin collection and jewelry valued at over $1,400.

Mrs. Dastrop reported the burglary about 12:30 a.m. Monday.

A 19-year-old CUCAMONGA man has been booked in the West End Jail in connection with the armed robbery of an Ontario bar owner on Dec. 13, West End sheriff's deputies reported.

Elijo Balderas, 19, of 8797 Helman Ave., Cucamonga, also known as Robert Padilla, was arrested by sheriff's deputies at a relatives home in Cucamonga.

Deputies said since the robbery of Manuel Acosta, owner of the El Compo Bar in Ontario in December, officers had received information that the suspect and another man had escaped to Mexico with the victim's money. Balderas was reported back in the Cucamonga area Sunday and deputies went to a relative's home and found him hiding in a closet.

Deputies said the second man in the robbery is being sought in the Los Angeles County area.

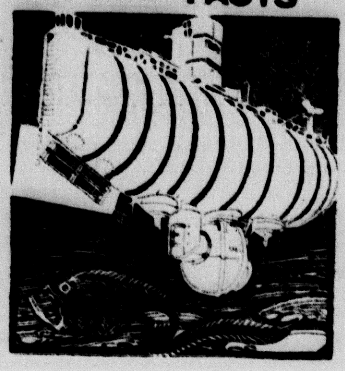
Grandson sought by police

Razor blade attack on woman, 74

Montclair police this morning are seeking a 24-year-old Montclair man who allegedly attacked a 74-year-old woman in their home Saturday night with a razor blade.

Sought is Leroy Emmanuel Van Noorden, 24, of 9521 Fulton Ave., Montclair. Police said that the suspect allegedly got into an argument with his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Fitzsimmons Saturday night at the Fulton Avenue address and slashed her in the arm with a razor blade. Mrs. Fitzsimmons was given emergency treatment at Montclair Doctors Hospital and released.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS



Recently, oceanographers revealed that life proceeds at a much slower pace at great depths in the oceans. This study also revealed that garbage dumped in the ocean may readily be consumed by the more active shallow water organisms but much of these wastes may accumulate on the deep ocean floor because deep sea creatures have lower consumption levels, The World Almanac notes.

Discard sign only chance

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The first defensive signal a beginner learns is to play an unnecessarily high card to ask partner to lead the suit in which the signal is made. Usually the high discard shows strength, but sometimes when defending against a trump contract it shows ability to ruff the suit.

Later on, he learns all sorts of suit preference and count signals that are likely to confuse him, unless he bears in mind that these only apply when it is clear that the high card isn's strength showing.

Now take a look at the East hand. Your partner who has over called with one heart opens the king against five clubs. What card should you play?

The answer is that you should play the eight and ask partner to continue. He would continue in any event, but when you follow your eight spot play with the deuce he will lead a third heart. Dummy will have to ruff and you will score your king of trumps later.

Could this false come-on hurt you? Yes. It is possible, but highly improbable in view of South's bidding. Your only real chance to beat this contract is for your partner to have exactly what he does.

Speedy meter makes calm man light up

STERLING PARK, Va. (UPI) — Gerry and Lois Lees knew electric rates were going up, but when the latest power bill for their three-bedroom home arrived they couldn't believe it.

Lees said he is basically a calm person, but when he saw the bill, he screamed, "Oh, my God."

The bill was for $687.87 — more than his mortgage payment.

A power company spokesman told Lees it must have been a mistake and said the company would recheck the meter.

Lees, still nervous, checked the meter himself and found it was running at an incredible rate. After throwing the breaker switch, he said, the meter ran slower.

He said the meter had registered 10,000 kilowatts — enough so that the family's next two-month bill might be something like $1,500.

A marriage counselor's advice: sign pact before saying 'I do'

TORONTO (UPI) — Psychologist Ernest Moss, a marriage counselor, thinks marriages should be like a formal business pact, an initial contract renegotiable after three years.

The contract should be signed before the partners exchange vows to knock all that "starry-eyed nonsense" out of marriage.

"Couples should come to grips with reality before taking that final, fateful step," says Moss, who runs a marriage counseling and "personality development" center.

"The possibility of a couple remaining happily together is increased enormously if they've drawn up a well-considered marriage contract.

"I would certainly not marry without a contract setting out freedoms and responsibilities for both partners," said Moss, who is short, stout and in his late 40s.

Moss also urges premarital psychological examinations to avoid marriages bound to turn out unhappily.

"It is not being cynical but realistic," he said.

"If you could see the marriages I have seen, day after day for years and years, you would realize the need for as many safeguards as possible." Moss believes marriage contracts —legally enforceable by a court of law —have become almost a necessity these days because many traditional views about marriage are no longer valid.

"Many brides today have no intention of committing themselves to housework or childbearing," he sadi. "And many young men refuse to relinquish their freedom of movement and still want to enjoy pleasures with other women."

Pacts may cover almost any aspect of married life: Handling of money, division of property if the couple part, contraception, religion, drinking, extramarital affairs —and in-laws.

"In-laws who live in the same city should never be permitted to barge into a couple's home whenever they want," says Moss. "It should be by invitation only."

A woman, worried by her husband-to-be's drinking habits, inserted a clause stating she would warn him only once at parties that he was imbibing too freely.

If he paid no heed, she would go home alone. The husband then would have no right to enter the house for three days. When he did rejoin his wife, she was under an obligation not to mention the incident.

In another contract, a husband assumed responsibility for taking the children to school every day. If he failed to do so, he had to do the shopping—a job normally done by his wife.

However, sex —especially the frequency of sexual relations — often forms a sensitive area when a contract is being considered.

"Generally we try to reach a verbal agreement," Moss said. "We don't like to include such items in a written undertaking because it may have to be discussed openly in court one day.

"Also, while a court will uphold a property agreement between man and wife, it is unlikely to enforce clauses governing sexual behavior."

Arabs stiffen ban on firms selling to Israel

CAIRO (UPI) — The Arab Boycott Office, calling for stronger measures in its economic war against Israel, Monday expanded its blacklist of foreign firms to include those who sell manufacturing plants to the Jewish state.

Boycott Commissioner General Mohamed Mahgoub told newsmen the meeting of boycott representatives from 17 Arab states "decided to ban any dealings with any foreign companies or concerns selling factories to Israel."

He did not elaborate or indicate how many firms would be added to the 2,000 companies blacklisted by the Arab world for dealings with Israel.

The 10-day meeting will also review the status of companies that may be taken off the blacklist because they have submitted proof that they no longer have economic ties with the Israelis.

Opening the meeting Sunday, Maghoub said new rules must be formulated "to eliminate these loopholes" which have cropped up in embargo regulations since they were first enacted 27 years ago.

He called on the delegates from 17 Arab states attending the closed-door Cairo meeting to adopt a series of modifications that would make adherence to boycott rules even stricter.

He said more than 200 firms —about 10 per cent of the blacklist total —had applied for clearance, and that about 60 had submitted all necessary documents proving they no longer dealt with Israelis.

Mahgoub said in a weekend interview the current session would consider lifting the ban on 57 companies, including the Daco Rubber Co. of Dayton, Ohio, and the First Exchange Bank of Chicago. The Chicago bank already has signed a partnership agreement with an Egyptian-controlled international bank.

Christian Academy honored

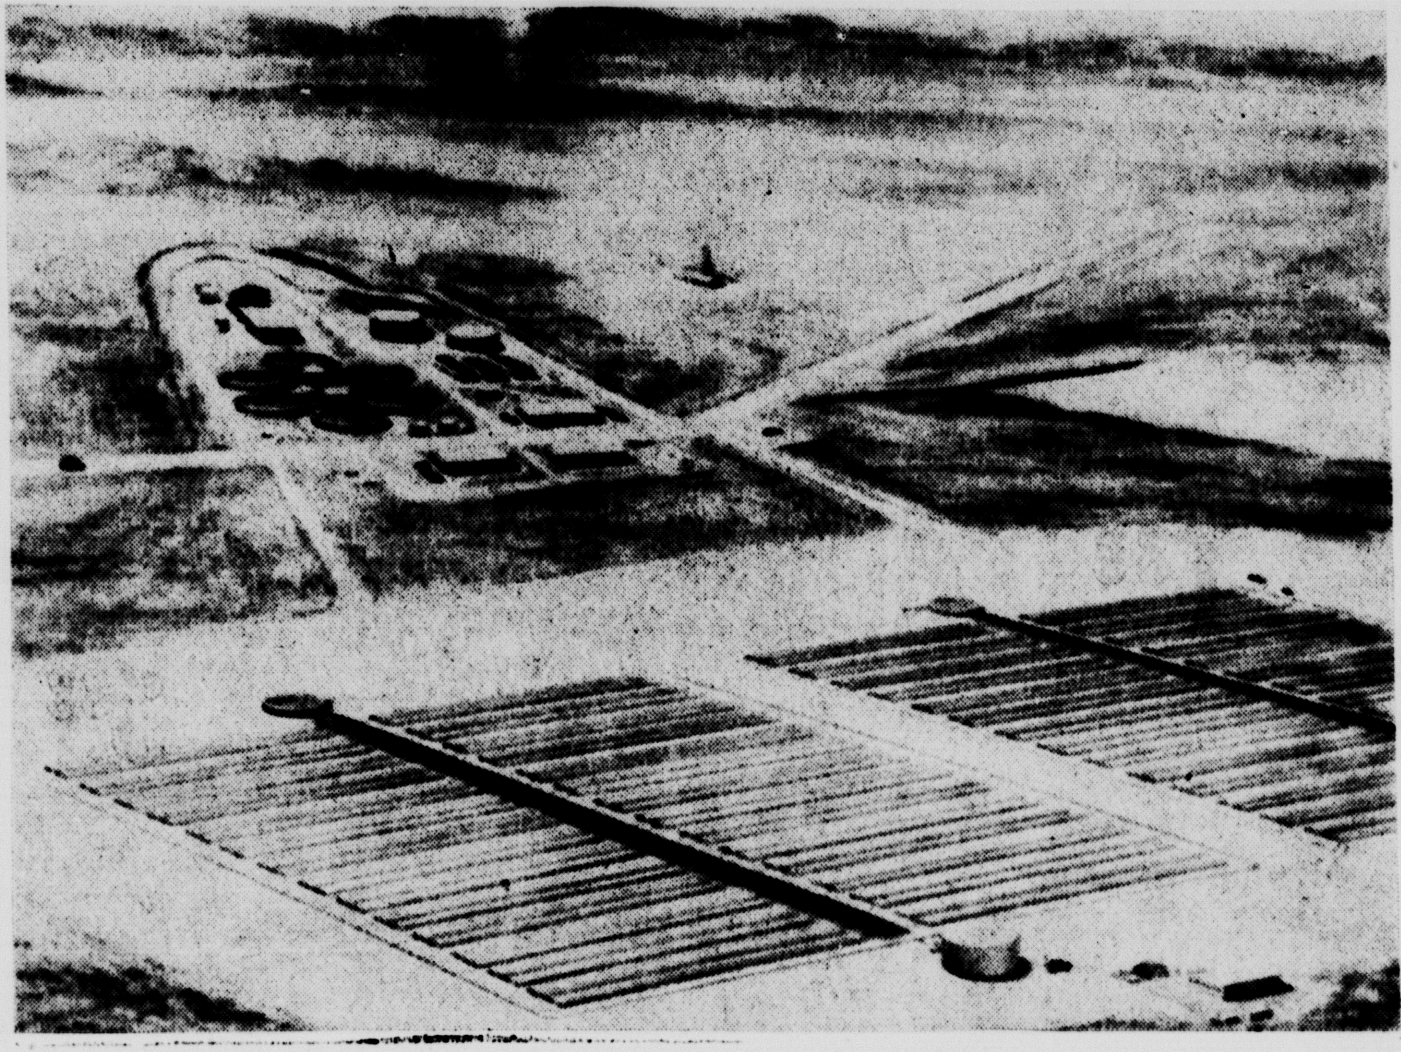
The American Christian Academy at 395 San Bernardino Ave., Pomona, has been awarded a Valley Forge Honor Certificate in the school category by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

Army Capt. Richard P. Holk of 1554 B. Oaks Court, Ontario, now stationed at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., was awarded a George Washington Certificate and a $50 savings bond.

Awards are presented for "constructive words and deeds which support America, suggest solutions to basic problems besetting the nation, contribute to responsible citizenship and inspire love of country," according to foundation president Reed Harris.

Top award winners, including actor Hugh O'Brien, will be honored at ceremonies Monday at Valley Forge.

O'Brien will be honored for his work with youths through the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Leadership Seminars.



FUEL POOLS—Lawrence Livermore Laboratory of the University of California and Sohio Petroleum Co. of Cleveland are joining in a new energy project. The idea, as depicted here by an artist, is to build a series of solar ponds near Grants, N.M., site of a Sohio uranium processing plant. The ponds will trap the sun's energy to heat water to 140 degrees. This will save the firm 20,000 barrels of heating oil per year and supply hot water at two-thirds the cost of fuel-heated water. The project involves about six acres of ponds, each 200 feet long and three to four inches deep.

Henry Ford charged with drunk driving

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the board of the Ford Motor Co., was arrested on suspicion of drunken driving during the weekend after officers observed him traveling on the wrong side of the street.

The California Highway Patrol office said the 58-year-old automobile executive was booked into the Santa Barbara County jail Saturday night and was released four hours later after posting $375 bail.

The CHP said two officers in a patrol unit observed Ford driving on the wrong side of a street in the suburb of Goleta near the campus of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

He was pulled over, given a field sobriety and later a blood test. He was booked after failing both.

Joblessness rises sharply in Europe

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Unemployment in the European Common Market countries rose by an average of 47 per cent between January, 1974, and January, 1975, statistics released by the market's executive commission showed today.

In human terms, this meant that 4,212,488 persons were jobless last January as compared to 3,054,688 the year before.

Denmark, whose jobless rate rose by 160 per cent from 39,000 to 101,500, had the steepest climb in umemployement. West German came next with an 86 per cent rise, from 620,494 to 1,154,295. France sustained a 57 per cent rise, from 460,600 to 723,400. Belgium's unemployment rate rose by 43 per cent, from 103,521 to 147,799 and the Netherlands by 32 per cent, from 149,830 to 197,752.

Italy, which had 973,300 jobless last year saw the total increase 5 per cent to 1,020,100. Ireland's jobless rate increased by 26 per cent and Great Britain's by 22 per cent. The increase in Northern Ireland was 14 per cent.

Southland legislators complain

Assembly rejects shortened week

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Monday rejected a Republican lawmaker's attempt to give legislators longer three-day weekend breaks from Capitol business by changing the schedule set by Speaker Leo T. McCarthy.

At McCarthy's direction, the Assembly recently switched its Thursday floor sessions from morning to afternoon. The house reconvenes Monday morning.

The change angered some lawmakers because it meant they could not fly or drive to their districts until late Thursday or early Friday, reducing the time they can spend with constituents. Some have used the early "getaway" for Thursday afternoon golf matches.

Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, challenged the schedule, arguing it meant hardships for who must drive to remote California districts. In Briggs' case, it means he often will miss the last flight to his Orange County district on Thursdays.

McCarthy said the Thursday afternoon session was vital to eliminating conflicts in the committee schedule and was in keeping with the concept of a "full-time legislature."

The Assembly rejected Briggs' move to hold floor sessions at 9 a.m. and on a 48-13 vote sustained the current schedule. Four Republicans joined Democrats in voting "yes" while the only Democrat voting "no" was Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro.

Thomas said his physician has prohibited him from taking airplane flights. This means that he must drive to his Los Angeles area district every Thursday night in order to meet with his constituents Friday.

Tunney seeks horse 'soring' ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., introduced legislation Monday to ban the "soring" of horses to give them a high-stepping gait at horse shows.

Tunney said the legislation was necessary because the cutting and irritating of horses' hooves was continuing in their training as show horses.

Sen. Warren G. Magnusen, D-Wash., joined Tunney as cosponsor of the bill to ban the practice.

The California Democrat said the soring includes the use of irritants such as oil of mustard and salt on horses' hooves in training them as Tennessee Walking horses.

"This pain is inflicted to make a show horse's hooves so sensitive that it will bring up its front legs as soon as the feet touch the ground, giving to judges the visual impression of a graceful, high-stepping gait," he said. "All this is done in the brutal pursuit of a horse show blue ribbon."

Tunney termed the practice "cruel, barbaric and unnecessary."

The legislation would amend the Horse Proteqtion Act of 1970 and has the support of the American Equine Practioners Association and other groups.

Girl with cancer getting weaker

HONOLULU (UPI) — Very weak and tired, 14-year-old cancer patient Heidi Biggs spent the second straight day in bed Monday, without once leaving her hotel room or getting up to walk around.

The little girl from Belleville, Ill., has obviously weakened considerably. Her parents maintained a 24-hour-vigil by her bedside, watching her slowly die.

"She's pretty weak," said Heidi's mother, Lucille. "She's remained in bed all day. She seems to be resting better, but she's so weak."

Elderly couple wanted to act as grandparents

MILFORD, Mich. (UPI) — An advertisement for an elderly couple to act as proxy grandparents for two youngsters on special occasions apparently has paid off.

"We've got three real good couples," Mrs. David Zimmerman said today. "I think they sound nice and we're going to meet them to see if we can choose the right one."

The Zimmermans placed the advertisement in two Detroit area newspapers last week.

"Wanted: grandparents," the ad said.

"Young couple with 4-year old boy and 8-month old girl looking for grandparents to share on special occasions, outings and emergencies and to become part of the family."

Zimmerman said several persons called to see if they might meet the needs of Garrad Zimmerman, 4, and his baby sister, Kelley.

Zimmerman and his wife placed the ad because they said the childrens' own grandparents live too far away —in Indiana and Ohio —for them to visit more than once or twice a year.

"We decided we didn't want them to grow up with no one else but us," Zimmerman said. "They need the kind of love grandparents can give."

Some callers, Mrs. Zimmerman said, apparently thought the couple was seeking a baby sitter.

"We don't need babysitters," she said. "We can find them easily. But finding a grandmother and grandfather is hard."

Senator frustrated over questioning of nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The senator was frustrated. He flung his yellow pencil onto the desk. Before him sat Carla Anderson Hills and she wouldn't tell him, in any detail, what housing policies she thought the nation should pursue.

"I'm not sure, Mrs. Hills, that I can vote for you on the general answers you've given me," said Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del.

"I'd love to find an excuse to vote for you because, one, you're obviously bright as hell and, two, you're a woman," he said.

"And when and if I vote against you I'm going to be labeled a male chauvinist pig."

It didn't faze Mrs. Hills. She has been nominated as secretary of housing and urban development in President Ford's Cabinet.

For a year, she has headed the Justice Department's Civil Division. She is a mother of four. She studied at Oxford, Stanford and Yale Law School, where she finished 20th in a class of 167.

If confirmed, she would be the first woman cabinet member in 20 years.

She was willing to tell the Senate Banking Committee Monday about her commitment to the concept that every American deserves decent shelter but, lawyerlike, she evaded Biden's questions about her specific housing philosophy.

Should rural housing be in a separate agency or in HUD? he wanted to know. Did she favor a national land use policy? Should HUD guide the nation toward multi-family housing, with its more efficient use of fuel, materials and space, or to be the traditional dream of a single house for every family?

Mrs. Hill wouldn't say. She wanted to consult with the experts in the industry, the department and the academic world before attaching herself to specific policies.

Biden pressed on. "I didn't solicit this job," she told him, somewhat testily.

Mrs. Hills sat alone at a long, narrow table with 11 male senators, in a semicircle, looking down upon her.

Most praised her warmly. Her lack of expertise would bring fresh air into the department, said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

"I reject the notion that the secretary must come from some constitutent group served by HUD," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

"You have demonstrated to me that you understand the free enterprise system," said Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., shared Biden's misgivings. He said reviving the drepressed housing industry is the keystone to economic recovery "and now is no time for on the job training."

Proxmire said it would be futile for him to fight Mrs. Hill's confirmation. The Senate, he said, is not going to risk the ire of women voters by rejecting only the third woman ever nominated for the cabinet.

California's wine shipments up 2.8%

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California wine shipments of 1974 were up 2.8 per cent above the previous year, according to Harry G. Serlis, Wine Institute president.

"In spite of the generally depressed state of the economy, more than 250 million gallons of California wines moved to market —our 10th consecutive year," he said Thursday.

Blood donations taken at two area hospitals

In a cooperative effort with the Red Cross to increase urgently needed voluneer blood, two area hospitals are establishing weekly hospital-based donor stations.

Donors will be able to give blood at Inter-Community Hospital at Covina every Monday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. starting March 3. Last Friday, Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina started its operation. It will be open every Friday from 2 to 6:30 p.m.

A pilot donor program was established last year at Whittier Presbyterian Intercommunity Hospital. Its success led to the opening of similar stations at Huntington Memorial and St. Luke Hospitals in Pasadena.

Eventually, the Red Cross hopes to have satellite blood donor centers capable of contributing 60,000 units of volunteer blood annually.

Blood will be credited for the patient, the donor or the hospital.

Appointments may be made by calling the Blood Replacement Departments at Inter-Community Hospital, (213) 331-7331, and Queen of the Valley Hospital, (213) 962-4011.

James Fields

Pianist performs on college series

By RALPH PIERCE

With a display of fleet-fingered technique to rival the more seasoned pianists, young pianist James Fields played a program of old standbys of piano literature for audiences Thursday and Saturday nights in Garrison Theater as part of the A concert series offered by the Claremont Colleges.

It was a little surprising that a pianist with a background of as many concert appearances and competitions won would not play a program showing a little more substance than the one we heard. For an opener we heard a performance of the Schubert Sonata of Op. 120. In this Fields did his most sensitive and musical playing of the evening. This was followed with a performance of the all-too-often-heard "Moonlight Sonata" of Beethoven. After a rather sentimental first movement and a crisp menuetto, we heard what has to be the fastest performance of the presto yet accomplished! In spite of the speed it was accurate and clean and one could only wonder what the next generation of pianists might produce to top it.

After intermission we heard four of the most often performed Chopin waltzes including another speed record in the so called "Minute Waltz." The program concluded with a performance of the Ginastera Sonata which, while a little less familiar than the rest of his program, was again distinguished by his affinity for speed and crashing fortissimo.

ENCHANTED EVENING — Janine Cole, left, Kara Moore and David Glasa star in the La Verne College production of "The Enchanted." The Jean Giraudoux fantasy-drama will be staged in the Dailey Theater at 8 p.m. Saturday and March 7. Jack Woodruff directs.

Upland artist to present demonstration

Upland artist Alice Swede will conduct a floral painting workshop for the Chino Art Association at the Chino Community Building from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Swede began her painting career at the age of 17 and was the color artist for Austin Studios for several years. She is a member of the Associated Artists and the Buena Park Art Guild. She exhibits with the Artistes de la Rue.

Mrs. Swede specializes in florals. Her painting of red roses adorned the Rose Parade calendar for the past three years. Painting roses will be the subject of the workshop, which is open to the public. Further information may be obtained by calling Carol Joy at 627-5091 or Alberta Cock at 622-4835.

Cello, viola da gamba recital set at Bridges

Pomona College senior Anita Cera will present a recital on the cello and viola da gamba in Bridges Hall, Pomona College at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

Miss Cera will open the program with the Suite No. 2 in D Major for solo cello by J.S. Bach. With Lynn Rogers, pianist, she will perform Schumann's Five Pieces in Folk Style and the Sonata No. 2 for cello and piano by Martinu. On the treble viola da gamba she will play Oritz's "Recerdada Segunda Sobre el Mismo Madrigal" with Bonny Snortum, harpsichordist, and Telemann's Suite in G with Miss Snortum and Carol Herman, bass viola da gamba.

Miss Cera, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Cera, 2805 N. Mountain Ave., Claremont, graduates in June with a major in performance. She currently is studying cello with Gabor Rejto and Margaret Ashe, and viola da gamba with Miss Herman. Miss Cera studied cello in Canada with Peggie Sampson and was a member of the National Youth Orchestra of Canada, before coming to Pomona College. After graduation she plans either to join a professional orchestra or to attend graduate school.

Miss Rogers is a junior at Pomona College, majoring in piano performance. Miss Snortum is a noted keyboard artist in the Claremont area, and Miss Herman, also of Claremont, is distinguished in the viola da gamba field.

Movie filmed at Pomona on TV tonight

"Journey from Darkness," a movie filmed partly on the Pomona College campus, will be shown on NBC-TV, Channel 4, at 8 o'clock tonight.

The film tells the story of a blind college student's struggle to get into a medical school. The world premiere movie is based on the real-life story of David Hartman. Marc Singer, who starred in the American Conservatory Theater production of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Claremont Colleges last year, plays the blind student.

Lee C. McDonald, dean of Pomona College, and several faculty members, administrators and students take part in the film. McDonald portrays the president of Gettysburg College, presenting the diploma to Hartman. Scenes were filmed at Bridges Hall, Carnegie Building, Bridges Auditorium, the Boiler Room at Griswold's Old School House and other local sites.

Color film to be shown at MSAC

"Backroads and Friendly People," a color travel film of the United States by William Stockdale, will be screened in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 8 o'clock tonight. The photographer will provide narration.

Stockdale captures the essence of people, from the Shakers of New England to the Havasupai Indians of the Grand Canyon. He took his camera to all points of the country, traveling from Maine to California, from the Canadian border of the Gulf of Mexico.

Stockdale will present his film and personal experiences as part of MSAC's "World at Your Door" series. Admission is $1 general, 50 cents for all students.

A free-lance writer, Stockdale has been a frequent contributor to the travel pages of the New York Times and numerous other newspapers and magazines. Since 1950, he has devoted most of his professional efforts to film making, concentrating on 'the unusual aspects of travel.

Mobile home maker closing nine plants

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — (BW) — Fleetwood Enterprises Inc., a leading manufacturer of mobile homes and recreational vehicles, announced Thursday plans to suspend production at nine mobile home plants within the next few weeks.

The company is currently operating 66 plants, of which 38 manufacture mobile homes.

Fleetwood's president William W. Weide said that during the nine months ended Jan. 26 the affected plants accounted for approximately $17 million in sales or about 8 per cent of the company's reported total sales of $219,952,000.

He also said each of the nine plants operated at a loss during that period. Weide noted that the move will result in the layoff of approximately 350 of the company's 5,700 employes.

The affected plants are located in Vacaville and Woodland, Calif.; Lawrence, Kan.; Crestline, Ohio; Reform, Ala.; Douglas, Ga.; Lexington, Miss.; Reidsville, N.C.; and Hillsboro, Tex.

For the most part, dealers supplied by these plants will continue to receive mobile homes from other Fleetwood Plants.

Weide further stated, "The action is being taken because continued softness in the market for mobile homes has resulted in an inability to operate these plants at profitable levels.

"During the last three months of 1974, mobile home industry shipments were down 52 per cent from the like period in 1973.

Cost associated with these plant closings will primarily be absorbed during Fleetwood's fourth fiscal quarter, ended April 27.

"Fleetwood's confidence in the long-term potential of the mobile home industry continues in spite of this temporary need to suspend production at some of our manufacturing facilities.

"We also continue to believe strongly that mobile homes represent the only truly affordable form of single family housing available to a large and growing segment of the American population," Weide concluded.

NEW SUPERVISOR APPOINTED TO ALPHA BETA SUPERMARKET

The Alpha Beta Supermarket at South Garey and Philadelphia in Pomona has a new store supervisor. Terry Wooldridge has taken over management of the store from Guy Estes, who is now supervising Alpha Beta's Hacienda Heights location.

Wooldridge is an Alpha Beta veteran of ten years, and comes to his new post well-experienced in the grocery industry. He began his career with the Southern California-based food chain in 1965, as a boxboy in their store in Carson. He stayed on there to become a grocery clerk and later gained experience working in Alpha Betas in Long Beach, Gardena, and Ontario. In 1974, he transferred to his present Pomona store and was promoted to grocery department head. In January of this year he began an Alpha Beta store training program to get an "over-all picture of what is involved in running a modern supermarket: and he recently began putting that training to practical use in his new position in Pomona.

23rd ANNUAL FOUR YEAR COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED BY THE PEP BOYS

The Pep Boys — Manny, Moe and Jack — today announced the opening of their 23rd Annual Four Year Engineering Scholarship competition. This scholarship, providing tuition, books and supplies for a four year term, is open to all high school seniors graduating in June, 1975. It may be utilized by any California State College or University.

The primary qualifications for the scholarship competition are scholastic standing and a traffc safety essay contest. Rosenfeld, Executive Vice President and General Manager of The Pep Boys, stated that entry blanks for the competition can now be obtained from senior high school class counselors. Essay contest deadline is March 1, 1975. Trophies and U. S. Savings Bonds will be awarded to three students writing the best essays on the theme. What I Would Do To Prevent Traffic Accidents and Save Lives.

"Winners will be determined by the application of four judging factors," Rosenfeld stated. "These are the excellence of essay, scholarship standing, good citizenship and score on a special college entrance examination."

Judges for the essay competition will be Evelle J. Younger, Attorney General for the State of California; Joseph Kaplan Executive Vice President of the Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council; Inspector Glen B. Craig of the California Highway Patrol; Fred English, Supervisor of the Driver Instructor section of the Los Angeles City Students; and Deputy District Attorney Richard Hecht, Director of Special Operations.

"Increased attention is being directed by the public and all levels of government to the problem of traffic safety," said Rosenfeld. "It is essential that answers be found to the problems of our streets, drivers and vehicles, and who but the youth, will bring forth the fresh new ideas so sorely needed. It is for this reason that the Pep Boys have conducted this annual essay competition for the past 22 years. We wish to encourage young people to view our community problems in a constructive manner; to seek and apply new ideas to make our streets and highways safer places for everyone."

A PERSONALIZED BRITISH ISLES TOUR IS OFFERED

One great tour deserves another, so Mrs. Jane Hillsen of Hillsen's Holiday Tours and Travel has planned two departure dates for her unique Holiday in Great Britain this year. This 28 day trip is planned for groups limited to 26 persons. This enables the travelers to visit smaller villages with narrow roads, eat at the village pubs, and get to know the friendly people.

The tour starts in London with three days of visit which include the great city, plus Cambridge, Stokes Pages, Windsor Castle, and free shopping time. Stonehenge is visited on the way to Plymouth, Penzance, St. Michael's Mount, and the rugged Cornish Coast. Then it's north to Bath and Oxford, the world famous university town, a Cotswold Village, and Stratford-upon-Avon. Tickets for the Shakespeare production are included for all the group. The York visit is highlighted by a visit to the Cathedral, and shopping in "the Shambles."

The kilted guide in Edinburgh will take the group on the famous Royal Mile trip from the Castle to Hollywood Palace. The day in the Trossachs along Loch Lomond includes ancient Stirling Castle, one of the loveliest in Scotland. The highlands, Braemer and Balmoral Castle will thrill the group, and the drive on the famous Tomintoul Road to Inverness is possible only for our smaller motor coach. All search for a glimpse of the Loch Ness monster.

Bobby Burns country and Gretna Green, where wedlock was forged over the anvil, lend interest to the trip on the way to the famous English Lake Country. The streets of Chester are lined with unique medieval galleries and quaint half-timbered houses.

Wales proves fascinating with grey-walled, slate roofed market towns, villages with fascinating names like Betws-y-Coed. A medieval banquet at Ruthin Castle concludes the visit to Wales.

Two full days in Dublin include touring, free time for antique shopping, and the Banquet and Follies at Jury's. The route south is along the coast through Wexford to Waterford, the city which lends its name to the beautiful crystal. A trip wouldn't be complete without a kiss for the Blarney Stone. From Killarney there is a full day "Ring of Kerry" trip through a succession of small towns and villages, each more picturesque than the last. The glorious rhododendron, peat bogs, and magnificent cliffs and sea views will be memories you'll cherish. Galway Bay and a Connemara Tour conclude this in depth visit to the Emerald Isle. The flight home is from Shannon, with ample time in the greatest freeport of all.

Information on joining this tour for either the May 15 or June 19 departure from Pomona/Claremont can be obtained by contacting Hillsen's Holiday Tours, P. O. Box 3, or 102 Orange Street, Redlands, Calif. 92374. Telephone 793-2411.

Troubled by financing for rehabilitation project

City rejects county plan for 10 abandoned homes

A county offer to rehabilitate and sell 10 abandoned homes in Pomona was rejected Monday night by the Pomona City Council.

The program, proposed by the Los Angeles County Department of Urban Affairs and endorsed by the Pomona city staff, was turned down on a 3-2 council vote, apparently due to the proposed method of financing the homes for resale.

The council, following a presentation by county spokesmen Art Freedman, appeared ready to accept the plan until Councilman Charles Bader asked how the sale of the homes would be financed.

Freedman replied that financing would probably be done through the Federal Housing Administration's (FHA) section 221. Bader then noted that 60 per cent of the current abandonments in Pomona had originally been financed under that program and doubted whether the county program could succeed in Pomona.

On the subsequent vote, Bader was joined by Councilmen Adrian Wright and Georgia Grove in turning down the program, which called for the rehabilitation and resale of the homes within four months.

If the program had been approved, the county would have taken possession of the homes on a contract basis from the federal government, contracted locally for the repair of the homes, and then selected buyers based on screening process.

Although the program is operating in several parts of the county, Freedman said that the county will not operate in incorporated areas unless specifically approved by the city council.

Bader said that he objected to FHA section 221 loans because the buyer is not required to make sufficient down payment on the property to insure that he does not walk away from it.

In another matter relating to abandoned homes, the council formally approved the acceptance of one abandoned home, located at 949 Asbury Ave., from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. It is expected to be used as a model homesteading property.

In other business, the council approved the first reading of an ordinance lowering the speed limit of San Antonio Avenue, between Kingsley and Towne Avenues, from 40 to 35 miles per hour.

The formal action, tentatively approved by the council last week, was made in response to a citizens' petition asking for the reduction.

The council approved a request from the Cherrieville Council for the use of city equipment and the closing of a street during the celebration of Cinco de Mayo. The celebration will take place May 4. The street to be closed is Newman Street between Commercial Street and Monterey Avenue.

A request for $100 in financial assistance for the celebration, was referred to the Cultural Arts Commission.

The council took no action on a proposed joint powers agreement joining Pomona in the West Valley Transit Service Authority with the West End communities of San Bernardino County and Claremont. The agreement is expected to be reconsidered at the council's next meeting, following the addition of a clause specifically stating that the council's approval does not obligate Pomona to any financial considerations.

New bus line opens, linking Chino, Serranos, Montclair

Daily bus service will extend 17 miles from Chino to Montclair and back to Los Serranos starting March 3.

The bus will operate 13 hours a day, Monday through Saturday, and 10 hours on Sundays. Service begins all days at 6:05 a.m.

Stops will be about one-fourth mile apart, and can be identified by blue and white bus signs. Passengers will be allowed to ride free during the introductory period. A fare may be charged later.

The bus service was announced Monday by San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert Townsend and Chino City Councilwoman Eileen Carter. The transit system was developed by the county's transportation department and the West Valley Transit Service Authority, which includes the four West End cities plus Claremont and Pomona.

The bus will make a winding route through Los Serranos, then take Merrill Avenue to Central Avenue and go north through Chino to Kingsley Avenue in Montclair where it will connect with Montclair's bus service.

Officials report the bus system will extend into Ontario and Upland within the next several weeks when a bus begins daily operations. It would thus be possible for a Los Serranos resident to ride all the way to the San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland.

For the Chino service, the bus will leave the intersection of Walnut and Central avenues at five minutes past each hour and then go north on Central to Kingsley to Montclair.

The bus will return south on Central to Merrill Avenue, west to Monte Vista Avenue, south to the Corona Expressway, southeast to Los Serranos Road, southwest to Cecelia Street, north to Fairview Boulevard, west to Yorba Avenue, north to Bird Farm Road, west to County Club Drive, south to Sierra Vista Drive, west to Pipe Line Avenue, north to Merrill Avenue, east to Central and north to the starting point at Walnut.

The bus will be a 16-passenger Mercedes-Benz purchased by the county for $23,160. It has air-conditioning and is equipped with power-lowered steps eight inches off the ground for easy entry.

S.D. joins in transit system study

The San Dimas City Council agreed Monday to a survey for a local transit system with the cities of Azusa, Covina and West Covina.

The council voted unanimously to approve the community transit survey after a presentation by John Jontig, City of Norwalk transit manager, and Mary Ann Kastead, San Dimas planning assistant.

The council will pay Transit System Consultants of Downey, Jontig's firm, $4,000 for its share of the study. The City of West Covina will pay $6,000 and the cities of Azusa and Covina will pay $5,000 each. The cost breakdown is based on population.

Jontig is affiliated with various transit positions throughout Southern California, including service as chairman of the transit advisory committee for SCAG.

Miss Kastead reported that the San Bernardino Associated Governments has contracted with Alan M. Voorhees and Associates for a preliminary study of transit needs in La Verne, San Dimas, Pomona and Claremont.

The study is funded by the Southern California Association of Governments. It will not deal with specifics of marketing, costs and route design.

Jontig pointed out that local transit systems provide better public service, revitalize shopping areas, make better use of environmental resources and allow for local responsiveness. He detailed various types of routing systems.

Councilman Keith Brogan commented that he was "not convinced that San Dimas is ready for a transportation system." He said he was fiscally conservative and could not really see the need for spending money on a survey for public transportation that citizens had previously indicated they did not want.

"The time is good and the time is now," replied Jontig. "I think public transit is the key to what will work in the West."

Mayor Jim Lough reported that public transit was among the central topics at a recent meeting of mayors from throughout San Gabriel and Pomona valleys.

"If we don't help ourselves, then no one is going to help us," Lough stated. He asked the council to support his position of joining with the three other cities to get a transit system, saying "I think we'd better look at it now. The timing will not be any better. It'll be worse as we go along."

Brogan replied that the mayor's points were well-taken and he did not want anyone to assume he had a closed mind on the matter.

"I have heard about rapid transit systems since coming to California in the 1950s. I still don't see anything on the ground that I can point to and say, there's rapid transit. I'm for public transit if it is self-supporting," said Brogan.

Jontig pointed out that such systems are never self-supporting, but they could operate efficiently. Brogan then voiced willingness to compromise "if the judgment is that we are facing our last chance to get a transit system."

Working for school changes public wants, candidate says

The public's general dissatisfaction with the Pomona school system is evidenced by its failure to pass a tax override in the last few years, according to Mrs. Frances M. Livingston, a school board candidate in March 4 elections.

"The public wants change in the school system, and I have worked for that change," she said.

In her view, sports, district-city cooperation, planning and academics are major concerns.

"All efforts should be made to restore the athletic programs in the high schools," said Mrs. Livingston. "The major sports programs generate income and are nearly self supporting. The deficit in their operation could be met, if necessary, by the elimination of two administrative positions."

Mrs. Livingston maintains the school district should cooperate more closely with city government. "One possibility would be the extension of joint purchasing agreements to eliminate duplicate services and reduce costs," she said. "Another area of particular concern is the failure of both to assume their proper responsibilities for students during travel time to and from school."

The school district "critically needs to implement a long-range planning system," Mrs. Livingston said. "Many of our current problems could have been predicted sometime ago, and solutions developed to prevent their occurrence," she said. "In the same light, the true facts and cost analysis of the district should be made readily available to the public.

"One of our major problems is that the public does not trust the claims of the district of financial problems, primarily because of conflicting reports of the extent of the problems coupled with the lack of a firm analysis as to where and how district monies are currently used."

On the subject of academics, Mrs. Livingston said that although some gains have been made in some areas, the achievement levels of Pomona students remain below the national, state and county averages.

"This district is not meeting its primary obligation, which is to educate all of our students to the limits of their capabilities," she said. "The first priority of the school board should be to seek the solutions to the problem of limited academic achievement."

Mrs. Livingston, 2024 Titus Ave., has two teen-agers who attend private schools. She is a member of the Pomona Cultural Arts Commission and was co-founder of the Neighborhood Schools Committee which succeeded in defeating a proposed busing integration plan in Pomona schools in 1972.

She finished second in the Nov. 5 special election, won by Mary Montes, to fill the school board seat left vacant when Roy O. Day resigned.

Valley youth worker joins Boys Republic

Bobby Sedillo, field counselor for Chino's Community Delinquency Prevention Project, has resigned this position to accept a similar job with Boys Republic in Santa Ana.

His resignation becomes effective Feb. 28 and he will begin the new job immediately.

Sedillo has been with the Chino program since it began in 1970. He has counseled with youngsters with negative behavior problems.

Boys Republic has a "live in" program, with residents assigned there by courts. "They are wards of the court and assigned there because probation officers believed they would benefit from being in different settings," Sedillo explained.

Sedillo said he will provide individual, group and family counseling. In addition, he will be assigned as public relations officer.

Deputies make traffic stop, arrest two men after fight

Two men were booked in the West End Jail this morning after allegedly striking several West End sheriff's deputies while they were being arrested on traffic violations on Boldhammer Street in Upland Sunday night.

Eddie Joe Casey, 19, of 773 Towne Ave., Pomona, and Thomas Louis Haas, 33, of 2092 Boldhammer St., Upland, were arrested on a charge of assaulting police officers. Casey, the driver of a vehicle that led sheriff's deputies on a pursuit from Foothill Boulevard, was also booked in the jail on a traffic warrant.

Deputies Richard Linder and Tom Tyrell said they noticed a van traveling at a high rate of speed on Foothill Boulevard about 9:17 p.m. Sunday. It failed to stop for three stop lights, they said.

The deputies went in pursuit of the van south on Grove Avenue, east on Ninth Street to Boldhammer Street where the vehicle was stopped. During the arrests the two suspects allegedly tried to strike the officers with their fists and had to be physically subdued.

The two suspects were transported to San Antonio Community Hospital and treated for minor injuries.

Unfit for Juvenile Court help

Area youth faces trial as an adult

A Pomona youth who was declared unfit recently for consideration as a juvenile faces arraignment as an adult March 5 in Pomona Superior Court on charges of attempted rape, robbery, burglary and felonious assault.

He is Abria Ellis Boglin, who became 18 this month, but who was only 17 last summer during the mini-crime wave of which he is accused.

Boglin, of 2415 Lennox Ave., was bound over to the higher court at his preliminary hearing before Pomona Municipal Court Judge Thomas Nuss. He was ordered held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

At the preliminary hearing, Boglin, who police say also is known as Robert Banks, was charged with the following:

— Felonious assault, robbery and the attempted rape of a 34-year-old medical receptionist during the burglary of a Pomona doctor's office Aug. 5.

— The robbery two days earlier of Pacific Finance at 2465 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, which was climaxed by the kidnaping of a 46-year-old Pomona woman and the theft of her car. That victim, Christine Ronshausen, was freed unhurt later in northeast Pomona. She lost $107 to the robbery and the company was robbed of $472.

— And the robberies July 5 and June 30 of the Stop n Go Market at 1175 E. Philadelphia St., Pomona. The Stop n Go robberies were dismissed from the complaint, however, when Nuss ruled evidence to support those particular charges was insufficient. That left Boglin still facing seven counts in Superior Court.

In the Pacific Finance Co. robbery, investigators claimed, Boglin arrived at the firm's office riding a 10-speed bicycle stolen in Claremont, and left in the Ronshausen car, holding the woman captive.

Boglin recently was declared unfit for prosecution through the Juvenile Court and ordered charged as an adult. The fitness hearing, which is routine in cases of youths accused of serious crimes, does not necessarily mean that the suspect's record is bad. All its remedies have been used in his behalf, authorities said.

Man stabbed 3 times during feud in bar

A Hawthorne man was listed in "stable" condition in Montclair Doctors Hospital this morning after he was stabbed three times during an altercation with another man in the Cub Bar, 8411 Foothill Blvd., in Cucamonga Monday night.

Steve Galvin of Hawthorne was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit about 8:30 p.m. with stab wounds of the stomach, chest and arm.

Booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of attempted murder was Ronald Dean Malvitz of 4201 Walnuthaven Ave., Covina.

Deputy Olen B. Olson said that Galvin and Malvitz apparently got into an argument inside the bathroom of the bar. Malvitz allegedly grabbed a knife from a sheath carried by Galvin and stabbed him several times.

Olson and Reserve Deputy Mike Smith arrived at the bar just as the suspect came out of the restroom still carrying Galvin's knife and threatening other customers.

Olson said he was forced to draw his service revolver and order the suspect to drop the knife. Malvitz was arrested.

Deputies said it was unknown what the two men argued about.

Bail for Malvitz was set at $25,000.

PUC official wants Edison to cut rates

Here's some good news for electrical consumers.

An engineer for the state's Public Utilities Commission has proposed the Southern California Edison co. reduce its rates by $23.8 million a year. This could mean a 25-cent-a-month cut for home users.

The recommendation came during a public hearing on Edison's request for a $65.4 million rate increase to offset higher fuel costs.

The main reason for the $89 million difference between the utility and engineer was the method used in estimating the cost of fuel oil burned.

Edison uses a 12 month method to determine the average cost of fuel for a three month period. This method assumes the average cost of fuel for three months will be the 12 month average, including the higher priced replacement oil.

But the PUC engineer Page E. Golsan Jr. based his recommendation on a three month first-in, first-out basis, assuming the first oil put into inventory is the first oil taken out to be burned.

The PUC has used the first-in, first-out method for nearly a year in computing the cost of oil used quarterly.

EDITORIAL Opinion

Too late to avert shortage?

What is there about oil that has given rise to almost universal agreement among Americans that this country must eventually become totally independent of foreign sources for its energy needs?

The United States is now, and for years has been, importing most of the raw materials required by modern industry and technology. Yet no one says we must become bauxite-independent or chromium-independent or this-or-that independent.

A little-noted report by the U.S. Geological Survey last year predicted that the nation may face future crises in the supply of some of its important minerals unless massive research efforts are begun soon to develop domestic resources.

But while there is a substantial undeveloped potential for some of these minerals, the report also warned that others are seriously depleted or nonexistent. A couply of examples:

Zinc. In 1972, the United States imported about 52 per cent of its zinc consumption, chiefly from Canada, Mexico, Peru and Australia. U.S. reserves are put at about 30 million short tons.

Identified resources of zinc are estimated at more than 80 million tons but are mostly in sub economic low-grade or deep-lying deposits.

Chromium. The United States imported 100 per cent of its consumption of this essential mineral in 1972, mainly from the Soviet Union, the Republic of South Africa and Turkey. The U.S. has no reserves of chromium.

Identified domestic resources of chromium amount to only about 1.67 million short tons and again they would be difficult to mine and expensive to use.

Survey scientists noted that while the nature and implications of the energy problem virtually exploded into public consciousness, concern about our mineral supply remained, for the most part, within the professional and technical communities.

"Whatever the reasons for this — perhaps one is in the fact that energy problems are more immediate and affect people in more direct manner — the supply problem for minerals may become just as serious as it is for energy," they said.

"Gas-and-go"

Those nasty oil companies are at it again.

Now the complaint is that they are pushing a program of doing away with the traditional full-service service station, which provides tune-ups, wheel alignments and all kinds of automotive work as well as gasoline.

Taking its place are a growing number of "gas-and-go" facilities where you get gas and oil and maybe your windshield cleaned if the attendant likes you, but nothing else.

That may be only the beginning. Judging from a report in Electronics magazine, the human gas pump jockey may be headed for obsolescence.

British Petroleum is testing a computerized "attendant" at a self-service station in Braunschweig, West Germany. The motorist punches buttons indicating regular or high-test, plus the amount of gasoline he wants — by gallon or money or "full tank." Driven by a computer in the (former) attendant's office, the special dispenser follows the motorist's orders.

If a six-month test in Braunschweig goes well, BP plans to install more such operations.

John Bull dances

The Arabs have sounded another sour note on the petrodollar pipe and the gutless wonders of the Western world are dancing to the tune.

Their latest ploy is to demand the exclusion of Jewish bankers from participating in financing deals involving Arab investors.

Gerald Thompson, chairman of one of the leading non-Jewish banking houses in Britain, announced the other day that his organization would not resist the pressure and predicted that the blacklisting of Jews would continue as long as the Arabs wished.

Britons never never never will be slaves? Well, hardly ever.

Thoughts for today

The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork. Day to day pours forth speech, and night to night declares knowledge.—Psalm 19:1,2.

We're hypocrites about aliens

Our many "Illegal Aliens" from across many borders are being used as pawns in a big chess game played out in the federal bureaucracies.

I sat down the other day and figured out that if we in the United States paid the same price for labor to harvest our food crops as we do for labor to masonry, carpentry, truck driving, etc. a head of lettuce would cost about 82 cents low to $1.10 high. The reason the head of lettuce actually costs from 19 cents to 49 cents is because of 'ILLEGAL ALIENS'. Now, a decision must be made: do we want 19 cent lettuce or do we want 82 cent lettuce?

From my experience very few if any at all 'LEGAL ALIENS' will work for the same price as 'ILLEGAL ALIENS'. We, the citizens of the USA are the 'LEGAL ALIENS'. We are the first to run to the store and buy the 19 cent lettuce not thinking about how it got there!.

We hear talk about how our Federal Immigration Service needs more men to deport this huge 'ILLEGAL' labor force because they are taking away jobs which could be performed by US citizens! POPPY COCK! As I have stated, "The Citizens" will not work for the prevailing wages and will not stand for 82 cent lettuce either! So as I see it, we are hypocrites.

Most of the 'Illegal Aliens' come to the U.S.A. to work because the standard of living where they come from is low compared to ours. Most of the money earned is sent directly back to their own families to help pay for basic needs such as food, clothing and shelter. Now where else in the world where the U.S. gives aid is a service performed which directly helps our own standard of living? And where else in the world does our aid go directly to the people who need the money without a big ripoff first?

I contend that we should: 1) recognize that the 'ILLEGAL ALIENS' in our midst perform an invaluable service, 2) that we institute immediately the bracero program which allows aliens to enter our country legally, 3) the federal bureaucracy . . . Immigration Service stop its harassment and muscle flexing for political purposes of only creating a bigger bureaucracy, 4) recognize that our aid programs only drain our treasury where the bracero program returns to our treasury a service while at the same time providing for food, clothing and shelter directly to the pepple who need it!

U.S. set to defend Arab oil fields

WASHINGTON — The United States has made secret preparations not to seize but to protect the oil fields of the Arab oil sheikhs.

In public, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has warned that the United States, as a last resort might take military action to prevent the oil strangulation of the West.

But in private, he has offered to help the petroleum potentates defend their fabulous holdings. He is worried that radical Arab groups may attempt to overthrow the conservative sheikhs, who have friendly ties with the United States. This could put the vast oil reserves of the Persian Gulf area into hostile hands.

Secret intelligence cables report radical movements in most of the Persian Gulf states. Some of the underground leaders, according to the cables, have spent time in Russia, China and North Korea. There is also evidence that they have received Soviet and Chinese arms.

For example, the strategic sheikhdom of Oman, which guards the entrance to the Persian Gulf, has been threatened by a radical uprising. There have been intelligence reports, too, that guerrillas have attacked Saudi Arabian outposts.

This is the reason the United States is bolstering the military forces of Iran, Jordan, Lebanon, Oman and Saudi Arabia.

The heaviest military support is going to the shah of Iran, whom Kissinger has encouraged to become the protector of the Persian Gulf. Both the United States and Iran have gone to the aid of troubled Oman. The United States has just sent the omar of Oman a shipment of antitank missiles, complete with military instructors to explain how to use them.

The United States is also advising, training and supplying the armed forces of Saudi Arabia. In the past, this military assistance has been largely hidden behind civilian contracts.

We reported on Jan. 6, 1973, for example, that the Bendix Field Engineering Corp. was hiring military experts right off U.S. bases, dressing them in civilian clothes and sending them to Saudi Arabia.

At least three other giant U.S. corporations — Lockheed, Northrop and Raytheon — have also provided military services to Saudi Arabia. Now the Associated Press has discovered another civilian contractor, Vinnell Corp., which has agreed to train the Saudi National Guard to protect oil wells.

This corporate military aid has been quietly coordinated by a U.S. training mission in Saudi Arabia. Its duties go far beyond training and deal with just about every aspect of military affairs, according to our sources.

Pentagon officials, remembering how King Faisal withheld fuel from U.S. ships and planes in October 1973, wanted his pledge in return for military assistance that he wouldn't participate in another oil embargo against the United States.

But Kissinger, satisfied with his relations with the king, overruled the Pentagon.

BLACK REVOLUTION: Had he lived, Martin Luther King Jr. would now be 46 years old. Some say he kindled the second American revolution. He said his goal was the fulfillment of the first.

We heard him proclaim it from the Lincoln Memorial: "I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed.'

America's true meaning, that was the quest of his ministry. He saw, as no other, the blight upon the land — the bigotry, the exploitation. But he saw, too, another America that carried in its bones notions about liberty and equality, lessons never fully learned but never quite forgotten.

Because Martin Luther King was a prophet, he saw the nation that lay hidden in those half-formed aspirations. Year after year, night after night, he saw to it that white Americans watched their black neighbors humbly seeking only their commonplace rights — to petition; to enter voting booths, lunch counters and schools; to obtain jobs and to own homes.

They were met with clubs, cattleprods, dogs, prison bars, even bullets. Always he was in the front rank, but always his eyes and his voice were raised above the truncheons to the nation at large.

Every day, he and his followers suffered defeat, every night, he prophesied victory. "How long?" the great voice would ask, rolling out over multitudes of upturned faces. And always would come his answer and his promise, "Not long!"

Montgomery, Atlanta, Birmingham, Washington, Jackson, Selma, Chicago. The blurring of a thousand nameless places. At Memphis, the voice of the prophet was stilled.

Seven years have passed. Such was the nature of his ministry that if it be judged to have failed America has failed. If the "second revolution" aborted, there is no reason to celebrate the Bicentennial of the first.

PAUL HARVEY

Marriage is good for you

The recession is holding marriages together as surely as prosperity tends to disrupt them. Marriage counselor Brinkley Long says there's no doubt about it: "In a time of trouble, couples pull together for security."

The traditional marriage vows say "for richer or poorer." The vows specify both because the experience of many generations demonstrates that it's sometimes a greater problem to keep a happy marriage happy when we're prosperous.

I have a file full of quotes from 10 years ago—everybody from Britain's renowned Dr. Alexander Comfort to our actor Cary Grant—insisting that marriage, as we know it, would not survive another generation.

It already has. There was a 54 per cent decrease in the number of marriage licenses issued in 22 cities in 1973. But with the economic reversals of late 1974 and early 1975 there's evidence of an uptrend again.

Even in California the divorce rate is leveling off. And here comes contemporary literature's No. 1 bachelor proclaiming that bacherlorhood may be hazardous to your health.

George Gilder, author of "Naked Nomads," says for men to remain single "is to court disaster." He says singleness is a totally unnatural state. "A man with no roots, no one to worry about him, to look after him, is lost."

And Gilder says this rootlessness is why single men commit 90 per cent of all crimes of violence, earn less than their married peers, are five times more likely to be hospitalized for emotional distress.

He says unmarried men have "the highest suicide rate, are four times more likely to be killed in a car crash and generally—from all causes—die younger."

And he adds, "Single men are six times more likley than married men to die of accidental falls." Possibly because there's nobody to nag, "Be careful!"

Author Gilder suggests that "35 million years of human evolution, where women were responsible for the children, made them creative and emotionally stable. Men never had that preparation for living. So the male remains insecure, compulsive, must continually prove himself.

"Marriage," theorizes Gilder, "is a permanent institution with roles that affirm men and give them a way of validating their masculinity."

According to the last U.S. census, in the United States are some 4 million single men who have never married. Statistically they tend to be "poor, neurotic, disposed to alcohol, drugs and violence, accident-prone and less resistant to disease."

Gilder says the swinging single man is a myth; says he—35 and unmarried—is so anxious, so desperate to marry that eligible ladies are scared away by his conspicuous instability.

Just in jest

There's a contest now under way to create a motto for the City of Pomona. And that, I am sure, has raised a question in the minds of some of Pomona's old timers. —Whatever became of the motto we once had? — There was one you; and a search through the 40 or 50 year old files of our Chamber of Commerce literature would undoubtedly unearth it. That slogan went: "POMONA — THE PLACE YOU'D LIKE TO LIVE."

And just for the record, in those days city mottos were quite common in these parts even Chino had one. Certainly many of you remember: "CHINO, WHERE EVERYTHING GROWS."

Conservatives look for options

And those in back cried, "Forward!"
Whiles those in front cried, "Back!"

At the recent conservative Political Action Conference held in Washington, I got the distinct impression that if the fabled Martian visitor had suddenly pancaked his flying saucer into the meeting hall, popped up and demanded, "Take me to your leader!" Ronald Reagan would have ducked out the back door.

It's not that the former California governor spurns the white-hot enthusiasm he continues to inspire whenever he speaks at such conclaves. These, after all, are Reagan's people. Unlike Gerald Ford, who prefers the appelation "moderate conservative," Reagan embraces such meetings as a hard-line brother-in-sacred-bond.

Ford, to be sure, remained markedly aloof from the conference, which was co-sponsored by the American Conservative Union and Young Americans for Freedom. No White House representative or observer was to be heard or seen during the four days of sessions designed to plot a course for conservative political activists in 1976.

For good reason, too. The President's stock has plunged drastically among hard-line right-wingers. Their list of grievances ranges from the selection of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President (an appointment many conservatives had wanted for Reagan), to the gargantuan super-Keynes budget the White House sent to Capitol Hill last month. As between the liberal Democratic Congress and a "moderate" Republican White House, conservatives see, at the most, a thin dime's worth of difference.

Even Betty Ford came in for her share of harsh criticism at the ACU-YAF gathering. The First Lady's long-distance lobbying on behalf of the Equal Rights Amendment was cynically viewed by some women delegates as simply one more case of the administration's efforts to cater to liberal sympathies at the expense of conservative principles.

"Betty Ford's problem," in the private opinion of one irate anti-ERA woman delegate, "is that she's taken Eleanor Roosevelt instead of Pat Nixon for the model of what a First Lady is supposed to be."

An immoderate comparison perhaps, but there it is, in a capsule: the Fard White House, one year away from the presidential primaries, has alienated the Republican right wing, as speaker after speaker indicated, beyond the point of return.

Indeed, the central question taken up at every conference meeting was not how to repair the conservatives' breach with the White House. Rather, it was how the Ford-Rockefeller brand of blended "conservatism" could be effectively replaced at the 1976 polls by a genuine, 100-proof article.

Enter Ronald Reagan — since Barry Goldwater's defeat in 1964, the foremost hardline conservative hope for national office (excepting only the 1970-73 period when Spiro Agnew shared that spotlight).

One word from "Ron" when he addressed the final conference banquet Saturday night was all the audience wanted. A hint. Even a pale green light, and the wheels would have been set in motion for a national campaign organization to offer a conservative alternatie in next year's primaries.

Nothing so radical as a third-party bolt, understand. Simply a challenge within Republican ranks to match the conference consensus with genuine political action. But the word wasn't forthcoming.

Why not? The answer lies in Reagan's singular (among modern candidates) view of how the presidency should be pursued. He adheres to the antique idea, as he writes in Harper's magazine this month, that "the job must seek the man."

"If at a time in history," says Reagan, "growing numbers of people express belief that a particular person holds the right set of principles to be President, events will find a way of setting themselves in motion which he must accept or pass by."

That was the Californian's fatalistic view in 1968. The, too, he waited — until it was too late — for leadership to be thrust upon him; while Richard Nixon locked up the Miami Beach convention.

So it was, with no certain trumpet from a leader, that the conservatives last week ended their "political action" exercise with that most liberal of all solutions. They formed a committee to study their options.

CLASSIFIED

Looks as though everybody has some favorite classified ad. Friend Robert John Allen says his is: "Personals: To the party who stole the unattended lawnmower from my front yard: I hope, when you arrived home, that your mother ran out from underneath the porch, barked at you, and bit you on the leg."

Q. "WHY is a book of maps called an atlas?"

A. Because practically all the early map books started out with frontispieces that pictured the mythical character Atlas holding the world on his back. It was slang, originally. Like Ma Bell. Or GI. Or cop.

REDUNDANCY

Was none other than James M. Hotchkiss, Jr., who said, "To commit suicide in Philadelphia is an act of redundancy." Mr. Hotchkiss collects redundancies. Like: "Brief moment," "congregate around," "enclosed within," "end result," "military bomber," "past history," "close proximity," "original source," "proceed ahead," "totally annihilate," "undergraduate student" and "stupid idiot."

THREE OUT of four convicted rapists were themselves as children the victims of sexual abuse. Or so one study of the matter indicates.

AMONG the Russian literature of several hundred years ago, is one "How to" book which details the most effective manner in which it was thought a man should beat his wife.

ANN LANDERS

Dope lover gives his side of story; still doesn't convince columnist

Dear Ann Landers: I know how you feel about dope, so I'm sure you'll never print this letter but I'm going to write it anyway.

I enjoy dope. So do many thousands of other people who read your column. I'd like to tell you our side of the story.

When I'm high I feel great. I see life crystal-clear. I mean I can see life as it really is. I first started into dope because all my friends were doing it. I know I can stop whenever I want to. But why should I? Just because it's against the law? Hell, no. The only way dope can ruin your life is if you become addicted to it. But that will never happen to me so I'm not worried.

Why do you knock dope when you don't even know what a high is? I suggest that you try it or button your lip. — Sailing In The Air

Dear Sailing: First, about my lip. I didn't write to you, Bub, you wrote to me.

Second: Your accusation that I don't know what a high is because I've never tried dope is incorrect. I can get high on exhilarating conversation, beautiful music, or a responsive audience.

Your notion that dope helps you see life as it really is — "crystal-clear" — is the most revealing part of your letter. It proves that dope actually distorts your vision. That "high" you are so in love with is a snare and a delusion. Life, my dear, is far from crystal-clear. Life is convoluted, unpredictable, mercurial and filled with conflict. Anyone who says life is "crystal-clear" is zonked out of his ever-lovin' mind.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an executive secretary, age 34, and married for the second time — to Tim, age 40. He was a bachelor until six months ago and was considered the town catch. I felt very lucky to get him.

Problem: I received a sizable salary increase yesterday. Tim's response: "Which one of the vice presidents are you sleeping with?"

At first I though he was kidding, but soon I discovered he was dead serious. Tim insists that in times like these a woman just doesn't get a raise unless she is "putting out." How can I convice him he's wrong? The best signature I can think of for this letter is — Flabbergasted

Dear Flab: If you have to "convince him," he's not worth it. Obviously, one of the most important elements in marriage is lacking in yours. It's trust.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's some advice in payment for some help you gave me last year. Last night at 1:00 a.m. I was driving home from a girl friend's house. (I am 19, female and single.) Three young guys in a souped-up Chevy pulled alongside my car at a stop light. They made some obscene remarks. I ignored them and continued on my way.

Soon it became apparent that they were following me. I tried to shake them but couldn't. I made turns without signals and darted down several side streets. They followed me.

Finally I headed for an all-night gas station. I got out of the car and called the police to convoy me home. That did it. The young punks bugged off fast. Pass the word to your readers, Ann. It's a trick worth knowing. — Brainstorm

Dear Brain: Good thinking. Thanks for sharing an excellent tip.

Are you, or is someone you care about messing around with drugs — or considering it? Are all drugs bad? What about pot — in moderation? Ann Landers's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs," separates the facts from the fiction. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could make a big mistake where your work is concerned if you permit your attention to wander. Concentrate on the task at hand.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your optimism is apt to overrule your common sense and better judgment. You'll attempt something risky that's best left untried.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Major decisions that will have an effect upon the family's lifestyle should not be made impulsively now. Proceed cautiously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It will be easier for you to say "yes" than "no" today. You're going to make some commitments without considering future consequences.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be realistic about what you spend. It would be a mistake to rely upon what you think will be coming in to cover present financial moves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You know innately what your course of action should be. Rather than approach it directly, you'll conjure up excuses to put things off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not a time to lean too heavily upon intuitive feelings. View situations as they are, not as you hope they'll be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have financial dealings with friends today be sure all terms are spelled out. Vagueness could later cause complications.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to assume that certain goals you have are a fait accompli. They're not, so stop kidding yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't jump to conclusions based upon hearsay and partial information. If you do you'll find yourself in over your head.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a warning for you again today to tread cautiously in business and other matters that involve the property of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Make no sudden moves where legalities are concerned without being backed up by expert counsel. Be careful what you sign today.

Your Birthday Feb. 26, 1975

Much opportunity will come your way easily this year, but don't take it for granted. Plan wisely. Build a step at a time. Be careful in selecting associates.

Professional hockey skates on thin ice

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Professional ice hockey is having its bloodiest season this year, and if the carefully choreographed "battles" continue, the sport may eventually prove as exciting as professional wrestling.

Overweight grapplers assumed names like The Killer, The Mad Turk and The Masked Bandit, and ice hockey is gleefully taking up the practice, e.g., the Philadelphia Flyers' Moose Dupont, Hound Kelly and Hammer Schultz. I'm waiting for Gorgeous George to skate out on the ice.

In amateur and college ice hockey, the point of the game is to slam the puck into the goal. Pro skaters would rather slam an opponent through the goal. So interested are they in checking, high-sticking and general brawling that some of them play a whole period without ever seeing the puck.

When a hockey player pretends to become really angry because his opponent has, by pre-arrangement slipped a stick between his skates and bashed him in the teeth, the victim slugs back. Then the teammates of the victim's victim, upon a prearranged signal, all start whaling away at each other with hockey sticks and clumsy padded gloves till the arena looks like Little Big Horn.

Referees and coaches are the directors and stage managers of these pier six brawls that pass for hockey games. When, in the opinion of the ref, the riot-in-progress has gone on so long the fans are losing interest, he calls a halt and sends two offenders (any two) to the penalty box, one from each side. Fair's fair. The fights are of such keen interest that fans frequently go out for hot dogs and beer when the sticks begin to fly.

The irony of this Long, Long Season is the wildest doneybrook of them all started in the penalty box, where the Flyers' Orest (The Butcher) Kindrachuk and Mike (Earthquake) Christie of the California Golden Seals were sent to do penance for assorted mayhem. Feeling that audience interest was now being detracted by the hockey game, they went at each other again, and they were promptly joined by dozens of other players from ice and bench. The ensuing rumble looked very realistic. Christie took more shots than the goalie. At the end of the scuffle — 40 minutes later — the refs slapped 170 penalty minutes on 10 players, equally divided between the teams. No homers here.

Substituting fisticuffs and quarterstaff play for hockey has not hurt the box office — America's arenas are still full — but the hockey fans have given way to the fight crowd. If you want to see 12 grown men slugging each other, go to a "hockey game." If you want to see hockey, stay out of the ice rink. Last season Schultz amassed 348 minutes of penalty time — sitting on his tail in the box for the equivalent of almost six full games.

As I say, pro hockey is sliding down that same long, long trail that wrestling took many years ago and will soon become the same ludicrous spectacle, popular only with little old ladies and the beer vendors.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Therapy for arthritis of the hips

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you refer me to any information on the treatment of arthritis? Recently a relative in his late 50s developed pain in both hips which the doctor have diagnosed as arthritis. I am wondering if exercise is the best therapy or if rest, which is more comfortable, may be recommended.

I understand there is no cure, but hope the pain could be lessened. He uses a cane, so far with difficulty.

DEAR READER — Arthritis of the hip joints is a fairly common problem in men. This is usually osteoarthritis or wear and tear arthritis.

Osteoarthritis affects the weight-bearing joints most frequently, hence the hips, knees and ankles.

The various forms of arthritis are discussed in a book I wrote with LaRue Stone called, "There's Help for Arthritis." You can get a copy by writing to me in care of this newspaper, at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 and asking for the book. Send one dollar for the book plus 25 cents postage and handling. Or you might find it among the paperbacks at your book store.

It is important to maintain the full range of motion of all joints regardless of the type of arthritis. That is part of the objective of continued exercise. However, in osteoarthritis there is often a tendency to overdo it. Rest is equally important. Characteristically in osteoarthritis rest will relieve the pain. The use of a cane and crutches are efforts to decrease the work and help to relieve the arthritis.

A person with osteoarthritis causing pain should try to limit the amount of activity. A good program is to be up and about for only part of the day, then get the weight off the hips by lying down for a couple of hours. Remember the purpose of the exercise is only to maintain full range of motion and muscle strength. Otherwise the joint does better getting as much rest as possible. A combined rest and suitable exercise program is best.

You can get a lot of good out of some instructions from a good physical therapist or from a specialist in physical medicine.

Finally, I'd like to mention that in advanced classes of osteoarthritis of the hip joint, if necessary, the whole joint can be replaced. Hip joint replacement has progressively improved and is an important aid in treating many cases of arthritis involving the hip joint.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 10 years old. I would like for you to explain what convulsions are.

DEAR READER — They usually occur after you have lost consciousness (passed out), the brain has centers in it that control the contraction of your muscles. These start causing your muscles to contract on their own. The result is the sudden contraction and movement of the arms, legs and other parts of the body.

The contractions can be irregular with no rhythm or they may occur in a rhythmic fashion.

Convulsions can occur with a deep faint from any cause, or in the presence of a fever or a variety of disorders that may affect the brain. They are more common in children during illness with fever than in adults.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

White elephant could be the answer

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The auto industry having demonstrated that cash rebates stimulate sales, other purveyors of slow-moving merchandise are seizing upon this gimmick.

At breakfast the other morning, I heard an outlandish noise behind my house. I raced to the window and peered out. There, in Wally Tortbaker's back yard, was a sight guaranteed to flabber your gast.

Tortbaker was leading around the biggest white elephant I ever laid eyes on, apparently trying to teach it to heel.

"Howdah, neighbor," he greeted me when I went outside to investigate.

"Hi, Wally," I said. "I see you've bought yourself a white elephant. Did you luck onto a sale somewhere?"

"Better than that," Tortbaker gloated. "'Honest Sid' Lemonpusher, the biggest white elephant dealer in this area, is giving a $350 rebate with all purchases between now and March 15. It's the next best thing to a tax refund."

He wheeled around and gave the elephant a poke on the trunk with his hawkus.

"Down, boy!" he commanded.

I said, "I'm sure you got a good deal, but why would anyone want to own a white elephant?"

"It's a long term investment. All signs indicate the energy crunch is about to get worse in the years ahead, making it difficult to get fuel for most mechanical equipment.

"Lemonpusher rented a computer and had it programmed to come up with possible replacements for bulldozers, trucks, locomotives and buses.

"The specifications it gave in each case almost exactly fitted the elephant."

Tortbaker pointed out that elephants were capable of knocking down 30-foot trees, lifting and carrying loads up to 600 pounds, dragging or pushing two-ton objects and cruising at 6 miles an hour.

"Imagine getting that much versatility in one package," he marvelled.

I said, "What about environmental impact?"

"Negative. You get 88 per cent less air pollution from a herd of elephants than from a fleet of trucks. The noise factor is also a plus, the trumpeting of an elephant being only one-sixth as loud as a locomotive whistle."

He further noted that an elephant runs on grass, leaves, small branches and bark, none of which must be imported from the Middle East.

"It sounds almost too good to be true," I remarked.

"Right," said Tortbaker. "If white elephants didn't already exist, somebody would have to invent them."

What people say

"One-sided orientation toward satisfaction of consumer demands, especially when it is not followed by the necessary indoctrination, is fraught with the danger of spreading 'social ills' such as individualism, egotism and greed, or, on the contrary, dependency."

TODAY'S Women

Awards banquet set Wednesday by NOW

Four area women will be honored at the International Women's Year awards banquet of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Organization for Women scheduled Thursday at Diamond Bar Country Club.

Pomona Valley NOW annually honors women in the community who have contributed significantly to the women's rights' movement. Honorees for 1975 include June Teitsworth, vice president of student services at Chaffey College; Shelly Jacobs, Pitzer College student and feminist organizer; Maggi Wargin, Chaffey College instructor and counselor; and Jean Shapiro, coordinator of Pomona Valley NOW's newsletter and membership task forces.

The evening activities will begin with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed at 7:30 by dinner. Proceeds from the banquet will be used to obtain a telephone service for the chapter.

Highlight of the banquet will be a talk by Ivy Bottini, feminist actress-entertainer, who will speak on "International Sisterhood." She was a cofounder of the New York chapter of NOW in 1966 and spearheaded the first Women's Strike March, in which 50,000 women particpated. She also launched the first committee to survey textbooks for sexism. She was instrumental in the creation of consciousness-raising philosophy and action in Los Angeles. She performs a one-woman concert entitled "Many Faces of Woman" throughout the country.

Opening the meeting will be Agnes Gilbreth and Joan Richardson, past president, will introduce the speakers. Introducing the award winner will be Mrs. Jessie Haver Butler, NOW child care task force coordinator and a 1974 honoree.

June Teitsworth is one of nine women in California in a cheif student personnel office position in the Community Colleges system. She served as dean of students at Chaffey College for 11 years before obtaining her present position. She established a women's task force at Chaffey, explored the needs of women at the college and with the help of the tak force members put together a community and on-campus film series, implemented the Chaffey College Women's Center by finding a location and assisted the group in other ways.

Shelley Jacobs, a junior at Pitzer College, Claremont, helped establish the Women's Center at Pitzer in 1974.

Maggi Wargin, part time counselor at Chaffey College, has taught several women's courses. She is a practicing psycho-therapist.

Jeanne Shapiro has been active in the local NOW group since 1969. A substitute teacher for Los Angeles County Schools, she also teaches in Pomona correctional facilities. She was editor of the chapter's newsletter for two years.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling 626-4019.

Garey, Ganesha open CIF bids tonight

Vikings host Bolsa Grande, Giants greet Arroyo

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Is this Garey High's year? Can the Vikings finally win it all?

Those are a few of the questions being asked this week as San Antonio League champion Garey enters CIF playoff competition.

The Vikings are the No. 1 ranked team in the 3-A division, top-seeded in the 3-A brackets, and are seemingly playing in high gear.

This year, again, Garey (14-0 and 25-1) will have company in the playoffs.

Ganesha High (12-2 and 23-5), runner-up to the Vikings in the SAL standings this year and sixth-ranked in 3-A, will also enter the playoffs, which begin tonight.

Garey seemingly has an easy draw in the first round, hosting Garden Grove League co-runnerup Bolsa Grande in an 8 p.m. contest at the Viking gymnasium, but head coach Mike Wells isn't about to take anybody lightly.

"You know how the playoffs are," he commented. "I remember what happened to us two years ago against El Modena. I just hope the players remember it too."

El Modena was the third-place team from the Crestview League that year, and eliminated the Vikings from playoff competition in a massive upset.

While Garey is entertaining Bolsa Grande tonight, Ganesha will greet Arroyo, the third-place team from the Mission Valley League, in the Mt. San Antonio College gym at 8 p.m.

Bolsa Grande, which finished league competition with an 8-4 record and wrapped up regular season play with a 13-10 mark, has a lineup very similar to Ganesha's. But Wells compares the Matadors to the SAL's Damien Spartans.

"Bolsa is like Damien," he said. "They're not very big, but I hear they shoot well. I don't think they'll be very quick, so we'll rely a lot on our press.

"We'll probably use our 22,000 press, which is the press where we take chances. Once they get down the floor we'll use our pressure man-to-man defense.

Garey, which has scored over 100 points in its last three games, seems to have a big edge in the individual matchups. The Vikings' front line consists of 6-foot-5 forward Delbert McDonald, 6-foot-6 center David Larry and 6-foot-5 forward Gary Carpenter.

That front line just towers over the front three for Bolsa, which consist of 6-foot-2 forward Jim Sargent, 6-foot-2 center Hanson Roundtree, and 6-foot-1 forward Russ VanOstel.

Sargent will be the guy to watch for the Matadors, averaging 24.2 points per game which was third best in Orange County.

Carpenter, a very smooth junior forward for Garey, will probably be the guy defending Sargent.

Roundtree is the only other Bolsa player who has been scoring in double figures, averaging 12.8 an outing.

The Matadors are expected to use a man-to-man press and then may drop back into a zone defense, while Garey will go man-to-man all the way with the full-court press utilized to its fullest extent.

Watch for Bolsa to play a very deliberate and disciplined offense, although the Vikings will try to force the Mats out of it with the pressure defense.

McDonald, the leading scorer on the club with 20.3 seasonal average, will do most of his scoring in tight quarters on tip-ins, follow-ups and layups.

Guard Billy Evans, Carpenter, guard Sonny Baldez and sixth-man Kent Jordan will do most of their damage from the outside. Even seventh-man Vic Newton is deadly from the 20 to 25-foot range.

By looking at the lineups, you might think that Ganesha will have some trouble with Arroyo.

The Giants will be looking at some good height again, but fortunately the Knights haven't been very consistent.

"We could possibly face a front line of 6-foot-5, 6-foot-4, and 6-foot-4," commented Ganesha head coach Gary Fulkerson. "They're a good-shooting club too. They shot 51 per cent against Monrovia and 53 per cent against San Gabriel. They're better than their record (8-6 and 14-10) indicates. They're fairly quick, plus they're strong and physical. But they are inconsistent . . ."

Arroyo will be led by 6-foot-4 forward Kelly Johnson, who was the second leading scorer in the Mission Valley League with a 19.2 average. He also averages 16 rebounds per game.

Johnson, only a junior, is the CIF frosh-soph high jump champion from last year.

The Knights' outside threat will be 6-foot-2 forward Ron Martin, averaging 12.3 points an outing. The center will be Mike Yackee, who stands 6-foot-3, averages eight points per game and grabs an average of 12 boards an outing.

The Arroyo guards will probably be Charles Curatalo and playmaker Steve Villalobos.

Ganesha will be guided by Donald Barnes' scoring (15.1), center Paul Whitmore's boarding, guard Cleve Bell and forward Howard Love's outside shooting, and guard Ralph Dudley's leadership on the floor.

Barnes and Whitmore will be the main rebounders for Ganesha, while sixth-man George "Super Sub" Terry capable to pumping an additional 15 points in a short span.

Five of the top six players for Ganesha averaged in double figures during league competition. In SAL play, Barnes averaged 16.9 points, followed by Whitmore (13.6), Bell (12.9), Terry (10-4) and Love (10-2).

EARLY ARRIVAL

Lefthanded pitcher Jim Rooker isn't trying out for the House of David baseball team although his beard qualifies. Rooker is early arrival at Pittsburgh Pirates' camp.

Boog Powell appears headed for Cleveland

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles' Boog Powell, the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1970 and a former teammate of Cleveland manager Frank Robinson, appears headed for the Indians.

The Orioles are ready to trade the 33-year-old first baseman and pitcher Don Hood to the Indians in return for catcher Dave Duncan and a fourth player the club's have yet to agree on. The two clubs are hopeful of completing the deal today.

Powell, who hit 35 home runs and drove in 114 runs in the Orioles' world championship season of 1970, has been used sparingly by manager Earl Weaver the last two seasons as his home run production has decreased drastically.

Powell and Robinson played together at Baltimore for six seasons and produced one of the most formidable power attacks in baseball. During those six years Robinson averaged 29 homers and Powell 27.

The Orioles obtained first baseman Lee May from the Houston Astros during the offseason, which would cut even more into Powell's playing time.

Chacon, Estrada weigh too much

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — World featherweight champion Bobby Chacon, who will need to lose six pounds before this Saturday night's title bout, and challenger Papelero Estrada, only three pounds over, sparred Sunday in public workouts, drawing a crowd of 5,000.

Chacon of Sylmar, Calif., and Estrada both have to reach the 126-pound limit for their 15-round title bout this weekend.

Chacon, weighing 132, went five rounds with Arturo Frias, Los Angeles, the 1974 national AAU featherweight champion. Estrada, 129, Guadalajara, boxed three rounds with Young Casanova of Mexico.

Walnut seeks better finish

As the old saying goes, "If at first you don't succeed . . . try, try again."

So that's just what Walnut High will do, beginning tonight.

The Mustangs, third-ranked in the CIF 2-A division, will open CIF playoff action by hosting Montview League co-runnerup Northview at 8 p.m. in the Walnut High gym.

Last year coach Bill Murray's Mustangs went through the Hacienda League season unbeaten and entered playoff competition as the No. 2 ranked club with a 25-2 seasonal record.

However, Walnut only lasted two rounds before bowing to San Clemente, 62-59. This year, with a club Murray claims is slighty better than last year's, the two-time Hacienda League champions enter post-season competition with a 23-4 mark and third on the polls.

Their first assignment seems like an easy one. They'll face a team which tied for second place in a very weak league.

Northview finished league competition with a 9-5 record, while possessing a not-too-impressive 11-11 mark.

Walnut completely dominated the Hacienda League, going through the 14 outings unbeaten for the second straight year.

The Mustangs will also have a definite height advantage, since Northview's tallest starter stands at 6-foot-3.

The Walnut front line consists of forwards Ken Czarnecki (6-4) and Cliff Manning (6-3) and center Jay Wetzel (6-5). The backcourt men include Kelly Bowlin (5-10) and Tommy Thompson (6-0).

Four of the five Mustang starters are averaging double figures in the scoring column, with the only other member of the starting unit holding a CIF record for assists.

Czarnecki leads the club in scoring with a 14.8 average, while Manning is right behind with his 13.4 mark.

Bowlin, the outside threat along with Czarnecki, is the third-leading scorer on the club with a 12.2 seasonal output. Wetzel, who combines with Manning to usually dominate the backboards, is at the 11.5 level for scoring.

Thompson, who set a CIF mark for most assists in one game with 18 during pre-league competition, is now the record-holder for most assists in one season with 300.

Center Bill Warren (6-3) is the Vikings' leading point-producer with a 15.7 average, followed by forward Pete Shpak's (6-1) 12.9.

The other probable starters for Northview include forward Bob Courter (6-0), and guards Pierre Cruz (5-9) aand Dave Robinson (5-11).

Two other valley teams will be competing in the 2-A division playoffs.

Alta Loma, the runner-up in the Hacienda League with a 10-4 league slate and a 17-8 overall mark, will travel to Los Angeles Lutheran High to battle the Olympic League runner-up Lions.

The Braves will be led by guard Roger Gubichuk, who is averaging 16.1 points for both the season and in league. A.L. sports a pretty tall front line of forwards Anthony Vasquez (6-2) and Tom Erbstoesser (6-4) and center Andy Armstrong (6-4).

Rowland, the co-runnerup in the Montview League with 9-5 and 12-11 records, will have the toughest task. The Raiders must tackle fourth-ranked El Dorado in Placentia.

There will be a lot of "trees" in that game, with Rowland's frontcourt trio consisting of forwards Jim Weedon (6-4) and Rusty Owens (6-5), and center Steve Nichols (6-8).

The El Dorado front three will probably be center Tyrone Branyan (6-5) and forwards Kevin Heenan (6-3) and Bob Farra (6-3).

Nichols leads the Raiders in scoring with a 14.1 season average. Guards Dave Warner is the outside threat for Rowland, averaging 11.3 for the season and 14.1 in league.

Heenan is the top point man for El Dorado, which will host the game at 8 p.m. in its own gym. The 6-foot-3 forward is averaging 22.0 points, while Branyan has compiled a 19.7 average. Both of them take care of the board work pretty effectively too.

The two other starters for the Hawks include three-year starter Bob Farra (6-3) and junior Blake Withers (14.0 average).

Abbie no match for male

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — Abbie Maynard, 19, the first woman ever to play in a men's professional tennis tournament, says she may not do so again for a while.

"But at least I did it and now I'm glad it's over," she said shortly after Ion Tiriac of Romania sent her to the showers, 6-0, 6-0.

As Miss Maynard herself had predicted, she was "creamed" Monday night in the first round match of the Fairfield County International Tennis Championship. Tiriac, a muscular ex-hockey star turned tennis pro, showed no mercy to the tall, slender teenager, who was a local entry in the men's tournament sponsored by the Sugar Hollow Racquet Club.

Miss Maynard was the first to admit she played far from her best game against Tiriac. She blamed her numerous double faults and mis-hits to the "pressure" of being the first woman ever to enter a men's pro event.

"I was under a lot of pressure and it really showed," she said after the match, which she thought was "a little worse than I thought it would be."

An assistant coach at the club, Miss Maynard earned one of the two local spots as a "favorite son" and the club's top ranked woman player. She managed to capture only five points, all in the first set of the match that held few volleys and a series of service aces scored by Tiriac.

"His serve had a lot of spin, which I wasn't used to, but he was nice to me and whatever points I got he gave me," she said.

Tiriac might disagree since he acknowledged her finesse when she was able to swing a shot past him as well as another scoring crosscourt shot.

"She can play better than she played today," Tiriac said when the match was over, almost sympathetic to the pressure she was under.

Miss Maynard, of Wilton, and her coach, John Nogrady, the club's pro, have come under criticism ever since she was named the only woman on the tournament's roster. But both point to her qualifications as one of the top women tennis players in the area and the fact that her entry was not barring other men pros from the tournaments.

"Just because I'm a woman, I don't think I should be banned from the tournament," she said before the match. Even after the debacle Monday night, she offered no regrets.

"I hope I can break some of the barriers," she said, expressing a hope that in the future men and women will compete in "mixed tournaments" as well as separate events. "It would improve women's tennis if we can compete against better players."

Her opponent disagreed. "No woman has a place in a man's sport," Tiriac said. "They're built differently. I don't think she proved anything by it. If anything, she was hurt. I don't know what she expected."

He even threatened to start playing on the women's professional circuit.

Although the outcome was far from the result of the acclaimed "Battle of the Sexes," it was lavished with some of the spectacle of Billie Jean King's destruction of aging Bobby Riggs last year.

The pre-game show included presentations of an athletic supporter to Miss Maynard and the female counterpart to Tiriac.

Miss Maynard, a student at Wesleyan University and the school's top player, has received several grants and awards for her studies in science and tennis has had to take a back seat. She has spent summers working on biology grants but this summer she said she hopes to begin touring on the women's tennis circuit. She hasn't decide whether she will turn professional.

"If women are going to ask for equal money, they're going to have to be able to start competing with men," she said.

Globetrotters at Poly Mar. 12

The Harlem Globetrotters will be returning to the Cal Poly gym on Wednesday night, March 12.

This will be the sixth straight year that the Trotters have displayed their dazzling basketball talents before Kellogg Gym crowds. Enjoying their 49th season, the Trotters have earned the reputation as "The World's Greatest Family Entertainment."

Their appearance at Cal Poly will be their only local outing of the cage season. In addition to all the Globetrotter stars, a special variety show will also be offered during halftime.

Tickets, priced at $5 for reserved seats and $3.50 for non-reserved, are now available at all Ticketron agencies.

UCLA must play well

LOS ANGELES (UPI — UCLA basketball coach John Wooden isn't panicking, but he admits he's worried after the Bruins' worst conference defeat in his 27 seasons at Westwooa.

The Bruins were devastated 103-81 by Washington at Seattle Saturday night and the loss cut their lead over Oregon State in the Pacific-8 to one game.

"As far as this weekend is concerned, California and Stanford, we're in a situation now where we just have to win," Wooden said Monday.

"It's a little tighter now and it's imperative that we play well this weekend."

UCLA, which is 9-2 in the Pac-8 and 20-3 overall, is at Pauley Pavilion Friday night against Cal and Saturday night against Stanford.

Stanford beat UCLA 64-60 at Stanford Jan. 17 for the Bruins' other league loss.

Washington's lopsided victory Saturday night was the Bruins' first defeat to the Huskies since 1963 and their worst loss since they were destroyed by Illinois 110-83 in a non-conference game in 1964.

"They (the Huskies) really took it to us," Wooden said in a post-mortem of the Seattle contest. "They really kicked the tar out of us. They did it in every way.

"That's about as fine a shooting performance by a team as I've ever seen. And I'm not talking about just their shooting percentage. I'm talking about the type of shots they took—and made.

"They played very well and they played an inspired basketball game. As usual when a team plays well against you, you don't play as well."

But Wooden, whose Bruins have won eight Pac-8 crowns in a row, said he wasn't "particularly surprised" that his club was beaten.

"I was surprised only by the margin," he noted.

UCLA winds up its regular season March 8 against University of Southern California at the Sports Arena.

Wooden was asked what would happen if there was a tie for the Pac-8 title.

"I suppose I should be looking that up," he smiled, "but I haven't."

USC coach Bob Boyd, whose Trojans appear to be out of the running for the Pac-8 title with a 6-5 record, also expressed surprise at UCLA's 22-point defeat.

"I was surprised by the margin, but not that Washington won," said Boyd. "Talent-wise, Washington is quite capable of beating anybody they play."

Washington shaded USC 89-88 at Seattle last Thursday night.

The Trojans, who have a 16-6 overall mark, host Stanford Friday night and Cal Saturday afternoon.

"We have to win these two games if we're going to have a representative season," said Boyd.

Earning the weekly player honors presented by Adohr Farms were Cal State Los Angeles' Billy Mallory, who scored 69 points and grabbed 40 rebounds in three wins last week, and UC Irvine's Dave Baker, who set a school career scoring record with 1,518 points.

Frank Robinson sees a 'tough' spring camp

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Frank Robinson, first black manager in major league baseball, arrived here Monday to take control of the Cleveland Indians.

Robinson, who will also be a designated hitter this year, warned his charges to look out for a "tough spring" camp.

"I'm looking forward to spring training. I think we're going to have a good spring training. It's going to be what I call a tough spring. We're going to do a lot of work."

The 39-year-old Robinson admitted that the pressures on him this year will be great.

"There will be more pressures on me because I am the first black manager. Every move that I make or don't make will be put under a microscope and analyzed. I'll be asked why I did something even when it turns out correct."

Coaches and players have been arriving here for the start of the spring camp which officially gets underway Wednesday with Media Day.

"I couldn't think of a better ballclub to start with. Clubs as good as we were last year usually don't fire their manager and hire another so if I have to start someplace, I can't think of a better place to start than Cleveland."

Irvine muscles past Poly

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

IRVINE — It was free beer night at UC Irvine Monday night as the spectators attending the basketball game were presented coupons for a free beer at a local gathering spot after the contest.

You wouldn't blame Cal Poly coach Don Hogan if he took advantage of the offer.

He needed some refreshment after watching his Broncos suffer one of their most one-sided defeats of the season in falling to the host Anteaters, 83-63, at Irvine's Crawford Hall.

The victory definitely puts UCI in good position for earning a berth in the NCAA Division II playoffs. The Anteaters enjoy the best record (16-8) among Division II independents on the West Coast.

"We have to be considered for a bid," said Irvine coach Tim Tift after the easy victory. "Our team is playing very well right now."

While the non-conference loss doesn't affect Poly's chances in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, the game didn't do anything to help the Broncos get ready for the big weekend coming up on the road at San Luis Obispo and Bakersfield.

The loss drops Poly's overall record to 12-11. Not only are the Broncos fighting for the CCAA title this weekend on the road, they also need at least one victory to insure a winning season.

"Our guys know their work is cut out for them this week," Hogan said. "They tended to let down tonight."

Irvine used its inside muscle to dominate the boards in taking a commanding 58-29 rebounding edge. That was really all it took.

Center Dave Baker (6-8) and forward Jerry Maras (6-6) were simply too much for Poly. Baker scored 21 points and grabbed 14 rebounds while Maras led in both departments with 22 points and 17 rebounds.

Guard Nate Jones was the other big scorer with 18 points.

Paul Newton was the only Bronco to enjoy a good night as he scored 24 points and nabbed 11 rebounds. Guard Joe Sills had an off night in scoring below his average at 11 points in making only six of 17 shots.

Guard Tom Ispas with seven points was the only other Bronco to score more than four.

Poly played well in the beginning and held a 27-24 lead with 4:10 left in the first half when the dam burst. Irvine went on a 12-point scoring spree to jump ahead, 38-27.

UCI's lead was at its zenith at 80-59.

"I was very surprised at the way we outrebounded Poly," Tift said. "Our defense was good, also. Baker and Maras are both seniors. I sure hate to see the season end and lose them."

Irvine, shooting 54.1 per cent from the floor this season, connected on 52 per cent Monday night while Poly could make only 41.2 per cent.

Kentucky's party doesn't last long

By United Press International

The weekend's elation at Kentucky didn't last long. It ended abruptly Monday night.

On Saturday, the Wildcats stormed back into the Southeastern Conference title race by upsetting Alabama 84-79 to tie for first place. But Monday night, it was Kentucky which tasted the upset, falling 66-58 to Florida.

Florida's pressing defense held fifth-ranked Kentucky scoreless for nine minutes of the second half and Gene Shy provided the Gator offense with 20 points. Florida outscored Kentucky 14-0 in one stretch of the last 10 minutes of the game to win. Kevin Grevey led Kentucky, now 20-4, with 20 points.

John Lotz, the Florida coach, called the victory his most satisfying during his two years at the school.

"Each player finally got it together for his best game of the year," Lotz said. "I was particularly pleased with our defensive work. Those nine minutes we held them were just great."

"We just weren't ready," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall. "No second efforts. But it is kind of hard to be up after beating back Alabama."

Seventh-ranked Alabama, meanwhile, surged back into the SEC lead by cruising to a 73-64 victory over Georgia. Charles Russell and Charles Cleveland had 20 points each to lead the Tide, now 21-3.

Top-ranked Indiana showed little effect from the loss of its leading scorer, Scott May, with a broken wrist during the weekend. Steve Green scored 23 of his 30 points in the second half and the Hoosiers hit 17 of their last 18 shots, including 11 in a row, to bomb Illinois 112-89. The victory was the 27th without a loss for Indiana, which also got 28 points from John Laskowski.

In other major games Monday night, Auburn downed Louisiana State 110-94, Florida State crushed Mercer 91-68, Furman edged Jacksonville 80-78, Georgia Tech dumped Tulane 74-69, Tennessee whipped Mississippi State 106-83, Vanderbilt defeated Mississippi 86-80, Northwestern nipped Michigan State 67-66, Purdue beat Ohio State 84-72, Wisconsin shaded Michigan 70-68 and Oral Roberts squeezed past Oklahoma City 71-68.

Sports news in brief

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have retired uniform numbers once used for Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal, a check of the spring training locker room showed here today.

McCovey's 44 and Marichal's 27 are now retired along with the numbers of Mel Ott (11), Carl Hubbell (4) and Willie Mays (24).

McCovey was traded to San Diego in October, 1973, for pitcher Mike Caldwell and Marichal was sold to the Boston Red Sox in December, 1973.

BELMONT, Calif. (UPI) — The first $200,000 horse race staged in California within nearly a quarter century was scheduled for Sunday, May 11, at Bay Meadows.

A spokesman Monday announced that the Golden State Derby will have a gross value estimated at $200,000 or more. It is for three year old quarter horses speeding 440 yards.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Pacific-8 Conference has named Larry Jackson of Washington and Oregon State's Lonnie Shelton players of the week.

Jackson paced two Husky wins with 23 points against USC and 27 against UCLA with a 25 rebound aggregate.

Shelton scored 23 points and 26 against California in the OSU victories, moving the Beavers to within one game of UCLA with three games remaining on the Pac-8 schedule.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Linebacker Jim Cope of Ohio State was one of four players signed Monday by the Cleveland Browns for the 1975 season.

Cope, the club's fifth round selection in last month's player draft, became the sixth draftee to come to terms.

Others included center Mike McDaniel of Kansas, defensive tackle Joe Pearson of Virginia State and defensive back Mike Gow of Illinois.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds have only three unsigned players now that outfielder Ed Armbrister has inked his 1975 contract. The signing of Armbrister Monday left pitcher Pedro Borbon and infielders Tony Perez and Dan Driessen without contracts.

INDUSTRY, Calif. (UPI) — Jim Ruziecki, a Southern California senior from Torrance, Calif., shot a five-under-par 139 Monday to lead the Trojans to an 11-stroke triumph in the Los Angeles State Invitational golf tournament at the California Country Club.

Ruziecki shot rounds of 68-71-139 in the 36-hole event to win the individual title from Keith Lyford of Cal State Northridge by four shots. Tony Campregher was third at 145, a shot ahead of Walker Cupper Craig Stadler of USC.

The four-man Trojan team totaled 487 while Northridge had 498, followed by UC Irvine 599, Long Beach State 606, UCLA 609 and Fullerton State and host Los Angeles State 621 and UC Riverside 633.

Boxing promoter Parnassus dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Boxing promoter George Parnassus, the game's "Golden Greek" who was credited with bringing big time boxing to Southern California in staging more than 100 title fights, died early today at age 78.

Parnassus succumbed at his home of an apparent heart attack, a friend of the family said.

The Greek-born promoter, who for more than half a century was one of the top personalities in international boxing, managed such fighters as lightweight champion Enrique Bolanos during the late 1940s and bantam champ Raton Macias in the 1950s before turning to matchmaking and promoting.

He was born in Methone, Greece, and at age 19 worked his way on a cargo ship to the United States, winding up in Phoenix, Ariz., where he opened a restaurant. It was not long until his clients numbered many boxers and he responded to their pleas to manage some of them.

As a manager, he also piloted Juan Zurita and Ceferino Garcia to championships.

He spoke Spanish as fluently as he did English or Greek and was a favorite of Latin fighters.

In 1957, Parnassus took over the matchmaking department at the Olympic Auditorium and immediately lined up two championship cards — Archie Moore in defense of his light heavy title against Tony Anthony and Bantam Alphonse Halimi against Macias.

Parnassus also promoted Sugar Ray Robinson vs. Gene Fullmer; Emile Griffith vs. Gaspar Ortega and Luis Rodriguez; Don Jordan vs. Virgil Akins; Carlos Ortiz vs. Battling Torres, and many others.

Two non-championship bouts that were boxoffice smashes pitted Carmen Basilio against Art Aragon, which grossed 236,531, and the then Cassius Clay against Moore for $182,397.

Although he spent most of his time promoting fights in Southern California, Parnassus used to travel more than 100,000 miles each year to set up fights around the world. He was a well known boxing figure in Europe, Latin America, Australia and the Orient.

APC must defeat Pt. Loma tonight

Azusa Pacific's hopes for getting into the NAIA District III Basketball Playoffs will be on the line tonight.

The Cougars (12-15) host Pt. Loma (10-17) at 8 p.m. If they win, they advance to the playoffs Thursday. If they lose, the season is over.

If APC does defeat Pt. Loma tonight, the Cougars will play Southern Calif. College (21-6) Thursday night. The playoffs will be held at Ambassador College in Pasadena. The first game Thursday pits Pt. Loma against Redlands (14-11) at 6:30 p.m.

If APC loses tonight, there will be only one game Thursday (between Redlands and Pt. Loma) and SCC will get a bye until Saturday.

Saturday's playoff schedule calls for USIU (17-8) and Occidental (18-7) to play in the early game (6:30 p.m.) The two winners of Thursday's games will meet at 8:30 p.m.

Biola, top-seeded team in the playoffs, is not slated for action until next Monday. The Eagles (21-7) will play the winner of Saturday night's 8:30 p.m. contest.

The winner of Monday night's game will play the winner of the USIU-Oxy game for the district title Wednesday, March 5.

Occidental is the second-seeded team in the playoffs. USIU is third, SCC fourth, Redlands fifth, and Pt. Loma sixth.

For Cliff Hamlow and his Cougars, it's the longest shot yet. But tonight's contest is nothing more than a tuneup for Pt. Loma which is in the playoffs no matter what happens.

For APC, it's win or else.

The Cougars go into the game with very little momentum. They've won only once in four outings since upsetting Biola (79-68) Feb. 11.

The lone win since then has a 74-66 decision over UCSD at APC Feb. 15.

The Cougars lost at SCC (85-79) Feb. 13, to Cal Baptist (104-91) Feb. 18 at APC and at USIU (71-55) last Friday.

Azusa Pacific won the playoffs last year in a season that saw Hamlow's team post a 28-5 record. Going into this season, they had won 20 or more games seven years in a row.

Hamlow has had only two losing seasons in 20 years at Azusa Pacific. It will take a superhuman effort to prevent this one from becoming number three.

Stags zonk Engineers by 21 points

Look out above! The Stags are moving up.

Claremont-Mudd's basketball team notched its third win in a row Monday night, 90-68, over Caltech in Ducey Gym.

That gives the Stags a 4-7 conference mark with one game left. Dave Wells' team hosts Whittier (5-6) in the season finale Wednesday.

At the same time, Pomona-Pitzer (5-6) takes on first place Occidental. A C-M victory combined with a Pomona-Pitzer loss would move the Stags into a three-way tie for fourth place.

A victory Wednesday night would guarantee a tie for fifth place no matter what the Sagehens do.

Against hapless Caltech, the Stags dominated the boards. Final statistics showed Wells' team outrebounded the perennial cellar dwellers, 73-40.

Four Stag starters scored in double figures led by Dave Willhite's 19 points. Ron Kasdorf had 13, Johnny Daniels 12 and Bob Smith 10.

Bart Locanthi was highpoint man for Caltech and the game. The 6-7, 170-pound Locanthi poured in 25 points.

The game marked the end of the season for Caltech which finished it's conference schedule with the loss. There were only two wins, both over LIFE Bible, in the Engineers' long season.

Sagehens victims of Redlands depth

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona-Pitzer's basketball team was more than a match for Redlands for the first half of Monday night's game at Pomona's Memorial Gym.

But the Sagehens might as well have stayed in the dressing room after intermission. The Bulldogs chewed them up and won going away, 75-58.

Redlands and La Verne, each 8-3, now will battle each other for second or possibly first place Wednesday night at Redlands.

The winner Wednesday could tie Occidental (9-2) for a share of the title if the Sagehens (5-6) should defeat Oxy Wednesday night at Pomona.

No matter what happens Wednesday, the playoff schedule is set. La Verne is ineligible. Redlands will meet Pt. Loma Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the opening game of the NAIA District III Playoffs. The site for all playoff games is Ambassador College in Pasadena.

Occidental has a bye Thursday and will not play until Saturday evening when the Tigers meet USIU in the first game of the evening (6:30 p.m.).

"If we play like we did tonight against Pomona-Pitzer," we're ready for Pt. Loma," grinned Redlands coach Gary Smith. "Tonight's game was just like the one up at our place last week. We've got too many people. I think Pomona got worn out."

Smith used 12 players against the Sagehens and 10 of them saw a lot of action. Three Redlands players, including two starters, had three fouls by the end of the first half. Four others had two and it didn't slow the visitors a bit.

The Redlands defense applied heavy pressure throughout the game. On offense, the Bulldogs never, or at least rarely, stopped running. In the second half, Redlands hit 16 of 26 field goal attempts to only 11 of 29 for the 'Hens.

"We didn't do much the second half," admitted Pomona-Pitzer coach Les Nagler. "But they're a good team. They have an excellent chance to go quite a way in the playoffs because they're one of the few teams that have that kind of depth."

Nagler admitted the Sagehens were down mentally after losing two games last week, especially the frustrating one pointer at La Verne Saturday. But feels it can come back.

"This team has come back and won some big games this year," said Nagler. I'm proud of the players and the great spirit they've shown."

The 'Hens trailed by only two points at the half, 35-33. If they had been able to shoot free throws, they would have held the lead. In spite of 16 first half fouls by Redlands, the Sagehens were able to make only 11 of 17 free throws.

Too often, they missed the first free throw in a one-and-one situation. For the game the 'Hens managed only 14 of 23 charity tosses while Redlands sank 19 of 25.

But it wasn't only free throws in the second half. The Sagehens simply couldn't buy a basket. Jeff Haskett scored for Redlands to extend the lead to 37-33. Garry Stewart, who took only four shots and didn't score a point in the game, missed a shot, rebounded, shot and missed again.

The 'Hens rely on Brandon Boyd and Geoff Northrop so much for their scoring that hardly anyone else shoots. If either has a cold spell or gets in foul trouble, the attack bogs down.

After Hasket's second straight bucket of the half, Boyd missed and Northrop picked up his fourth foul. Manual Ramos replaced Northrop with 18:34 left.

Russell was fouled shooting and made one of two free throws and it was 40-33. Boyd finally scored for the Sagehens nearly three minutes into the half.

Tom Buffums' basket for Redlands was followed by a Pomona turnover, another basket by Haskett, another turnover and a bucket by Brian Sanders. It was 46-33 Redlands and the 'Hens never got back in the game.

For the tired Sagehens, the season ends Wednesday. Redlands must play Wednesday and Thursday for sure. A win Thursday means a fourth game Saturday.

"I don't like it, but what can I do," said Smith. "I'd like to see our season end earlier so the teams have a better chance in the playoffs."

Pro golf tour is healthy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — On the surface at least, the pro golf tour seems to be healthy.

Of the seven tournaments played to date on the so-called winter schedule, attendance is up, in some cases dramatically, and PGA officials seemingly are jumping for joy. So are some of the sponsors and the charities they support.

"We're extremely pleased," says Deane Beman, commissioner of the Tournament Players Division "This has been a wonderful start especially in a year when other segments of our society are caught in an economic squeeze. The credit for our success to this point certainly goes to our sponsors and the hundreds of volunteers who help put on our tournaments."

The tour shifts East this week for four consecutive events in Florida, starting with the Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic at Lauderhill, and Beman for one probably is happy to get away from the West Coast, where this year his name has been mentioned about as often as Johnny Miller's.

Despite the outward success of the pro tour in the West, Beman and the TPD have alienated a number of sponsors over a proposed share-and-share-alike television money package. The current format calls for each tournament with television rights to donate 30 per cent to a common pool. The second stage, to go into effect next year, calls for 50 per cent, and the third stage, to go into effect in 1977, calls for 75 per cent.

Sponsors of such events as the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, the Bob Hope Desert Classic and the Andy Williams-San Diego Open have said flatly they will not give up one cent more than the current 30 per cent scale. If they have to go higher, they say they will cancel their events.

Beman in recent days has backed off a bit from the original plan and says now no provisions for increased television money have been spelled out beyond 30 per cent.

"This is an internal problem and one we will have to solve among ourseleves," Beman said, meaning negotiations are going on for a happy solution.

Whether he meant it as a threat to the rebelling sponsors or simply was emphasizing the health of the tour, Beman said there are "at least six sponsors standing by with money to take over an open spot on the schedule, and they can do it on 60 days notice."

Still, the Tour lost two events this year and is in imminent danger of losing a third —the Quad Cities Open at Bettendorf, Iowa, scheduled for July 10-13. The principal booster of the event is a restaurant chain, which has withdrawn its sponsorship. Unless someone quickly comes up with the money, the event will be cancelled this summer.

Additionally, while the TPD has put pressure on the celebrity-oriented West Coast events to increase their purses, there are six events, including Quad Cities, with purses of less than $150,000. One, the Tallahassee Open, carries a purse of only $60,000.

By contrast, the Hawaiian Open has a $220,000 purse, followed by the Dean Martin-Tucson Open at $200,008, the Crosby at $185,000, the San Diego at $170,000, the Hope at $160,000 and the Phoenix and Los Angeles Opens at $150,000.

No one at the moment seems certain that the TPD and the West Coast sponsors can get together, but Beman said before heading East the 1976 winter schedule will be released by early June.

Six golfers voted into Hall of Fame

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Six golfers from the game's early years, three Americans and three Britishers, were named Monday to the World Golf Hall of Fame.

Hall of Fame President Don Collette announced the honorees, including Joyce Wethered, Tom Morris Jr. and J.H. Taylor of Britian and Willie Anderson, Chick Evans and Glenna Collette Vare of the United States.

The selections were made by a special committee chosen to elect players whose principal achievements came before 1930. A post-1930 committee has submitted nominations for voting by the general membership of the Golf Writers Associaton of America.

The six players named Monday and those to be elected in coming weeks will join 13 players who were inducted last September at the formal opening of the World Golf Hall of Fame here. Formal induction is scheduled in September.

The six players named Monday won a combined 26 national championships over a 67-year period.

Morris was a four-time British Open winner whose winning total of 149 in 1870 wasn't surpassed for more than 30 years. He died suddenly on Christmas Day, 1875, at age 24.

Miss Wethered, now Lady Heathcoat-Amory, entered only 11 championships and won nine of them.

Taylor won the British Open five times —the first in 1893 and the last in 1913. He was also a founder of the British Professional Golfers Association.

Anderson won the U.S. open four straight years 1901-1904, becoming the first golfer to accomplish the feat.

Evans won both the U.S. Open and U.S. Amateur in 1916 and his record score of 286 in the open wasn't broken for 20 years. He won the amateur again in 1920.

Mrs. Vare won six U.S. women's golfing titles in the 1920s.

Maryland takes over 2nd in this week's cage poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indiana was a near unanimous choice today as the No. 1 team in the weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings but Maryland has replaced UCLA in the runnerup position.

Indiana, the nation's only major college unbeaten team, ran its record to 26-0 last week with a pair of victories and the Hoosiers received 41 first place votes and 419 points from the 42-member UPI Board of Coaches.

The Hoosiers, who have clinched the Big Ten Conference for an automatic berth in the NCAA tournament, have only two games remaining in the regular season but must play them without the services of star forward Scott May, who broke his wrist in Indiana's 83-82 victory over Purdue last Saturday.

Maryland, which ran its record to 19-3 with a triumph over Virginia, received the only other first place vote and moved ahead of UCLA into the No. 2 position with 327 points. Maryland can win the Atlantic Coast Conference regular season title with a victory over Clemson Wednesday, which would give the Terps the top seed and a first-round bye in the annual post-season tournament which decides the league's NCAA representative.

UCLA, which suffered a humiliating 103-81 shellacking at the hands of Washington Saturday night, dropped a notch to third with 300 points and Louisville, boosting its record to 20-2 with three victories during the week, climbed two spots to fourth with 298 points.

Kentucky moved up three spots to fifth on the strength of its second triumph over Alabama this year while North Carolina State fell two places to sixth after being beaten by Clemson on Saturday.

Arizona State remained in the No. 7 position in a tie with Alabama, which tumbled from fifth. Marquette won three games and held the No. 9 spot while Oregon State, now only one game behind UCLA in the Pacific Eight Conference race, moved up one spot to No. 10.

Texas-El Paso, a victor over both Arizona and Arizona State last weekend, advanced three places to No. 11 with Southern California dropping two places to No. 12 after splitting a pair of games.

North Carolina fell one place to No. 13 after being upset by Virginia and Pensylvania returned to the top 20 in the No. 14 spot after increasing its record to 20-4.

Clemson took advantage of its upset of North Carolina State to take over the No. 15 position and Utah State and Nevada-Las Vegas tied for 16th. Arizona, New Mexico State and Washington rounded out the top 20 in a tie for 18th.

Six coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI Ratings Board. Each week they vote on the top 10 teams and points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th.

J. D. Morgan is surprised at technical

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA athletic director J. D. Morgan said Monday he was "surprised" he was tagged with a technical foul in the second half of the Bruins' 103-81 loss at Washington Saturday night.

The unusual technical was charged to Morgan by referee Frank Buckiewicz.

"I was sitting up in the stands with a ticket that was paid for by UCLA," the unsmiling Morgan said. "It's the first time I can remember in history that a foul has been called on a spectator regardless of what his association is with the university.

"I must say I was surprised and I'm still surprised by the technical. I've never had any difficulty with Frank Buckiewicz before."

Morgan was asked to comment about the technical at the weekly meeting of the Southern California Basketball Writers.

"We were called rightfully for an offensive foul," he explained. "One official (the other official Saturday night was Mel Ross) stayed at one end and was ready to pass the ball in and the other official went down to the other end ready to shoot the free throw.

"They were having a little difficulty getting together and they finally came down to the other end. I yelled out on the court, 'Frank, what is the ruling? It was signaled as an offensive foul.'

"He turned around and came over to the bench and said, 'That's a technical on you.'

"Frank had not received a riding from either our bench or our crowd. We actually went to the free throw line more than Washington did. It also wasn't exactly at a critical time in the ball game. I think we were 22 or 23 points behind at that time."

Morgan was asked if he considered the technical unfair.

"You draw your own conclusion," he said tersely. "I've never in my life ever used profanity to an official and I did not use profanity then.

"As a matter of fact, I've heard an awful lot worse exchange between coaches and officials and have them come off the floor smiling."

John Wooden, the UCLA coach, was a distinct contrast to the poker-faced Morgan when questioned about the technical.

"Well, all I know is that someone back behind me got called for a technical," he smiled. "But there's been a lot of technicals called through the years on various people in the stands."

Fundamentals big for Angel players

ANAHEIM — With an emphasis on fundamentals, defense and team speed, the California Angels open spring training with 10 pitchers and five catchers Saturday at their four diamond complex in Holtville.

The rest of the squad is scheduled to report next Tuesday with the first full squad workout set March 5.

The Angels open their 25-game exhibition schedule against the San Diego Padres in Holtville on Friday (Mar. 14), then move to Palm Springs. They will have a split squad for the first weekend, playing in Palm Springs against Milwaukee and in Mesa against the three-time world champion Oakland A's. They conclude the exhibition schedule with three games against the Los Angeles Dodgers Apr. 4-6 and open the American League season Apr. 7 at home against the Kansas City Royals.

Beginning his first full season as Angels manager, Dick Williams admits a lot of time during the spring will be spent on fundamentals and conditioning.

"Speed, pitching and defense are our strong suits," says Williams. In recent luncheon and banquet appearance Williams stated the Angels have the best starting pitching four-some in strikeout king and 22-game winner Nolan Ryan, two-time 20-game winner Bill Singer, 1974 American League Rookie Pitcher of the Year Frank Tanana, and young lefthander Andy Hassler.

Speed will come from Mickey Rivers, Tommy Harper and Morris Nettles, whom Williams considers "the fastest relay team in baseball. We could get 150 stolen bases from them."

Williams and his coaching staff will be evaluating the youngest Angels squad in history during the next five weeks. Of 38 players on the spring roster, 20 were drafted or signed as free agents since 1969.

"The farm system was highly productive last year and I'm looking forward to a competitive camp. Our situation is similar to the clubs I inherited at Boston (1967) and Oakland (1971). The talent was there. It was just a matter of making the most of it."

Joining incumbent coaches Whitey Herzog and Jimmie Reese will be Grover Resinger, camp coordinator and bench coach; Jerry Adair, first base; and Billy Muffett, who moved up from minor league pitching instructor to pitching coach last September.

Dodgers depart for spring drills

LOS ANGELES — The National League Champion Los Angeles Dodgers will depart for Vero Beach, Fla., and the beginning of Spring training Wednesday morning.

Heading the Dodger contingent leaving Los Angeles will be manager Walt Alston, who will be in his 22nd season as the Dodger skipper.

Opening drills for the Dodgers at their Dodgertown Spring training base in Vero Beach will be held on Thursday morning.

The Dodgers will remain in Vero Beach until March 31, when they will return to the West to open a four-game series in Arizona against the San Francisco Giants, Chicago Cubs and Oakland A's.

In pre-season games in Southern California the Dodgers will play the California Angels at Anaheim Stadium on Friday and Saturday nights (April 4 and 5) and on Sunday afternoon (April 6) at Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers will open their National League season in the traditional league opener at Cincinnati on Monday, April 7. Seven of the Dodgers' first 10 games of the season are against the Reds, runnersup to the Dodgers in the N.L. West Division last season.

Training with the Dodgers at Dodgertown this season during the first two weeks in March will be the Tokyo Giants, perennial champions of Japanese baseball. The Dodgers will open their pre-season schedule with a game against the Tokyo Giants at Vero Beach on Friday, Mar. 7.

All Dodger pre-season games will be carried on KABC radio and four of the games will be televised by KTTV (Channel 11) beginning with the first Sunday game against Atlanta at Vero Beach on March 9.

Tile is somewhat like a thin brick of baked clay. Tile has been used since ancient times for covering floors, walls and roofs of buildings, as well as for many other useful purposes.

Tile is made in many shapes and patterns. All the kinds of clay tile are made in much the same way clay bricks are made.

To make tile, the tile maker mixes clay with water. Some sand is added, too.

To make tiles for roofs, floors and walls, he presses thin sheets of soft clay into metal molds.

Hollow tile for drainpipes, chimneys and walls is made by squeezing the soft clay through openings and cutting the tile into the proper length.

The tiles are first dried. Then they are "fired" (baked) in an oven called a "kiln" (KILL). The tiles are very hard when they leave the kiln.

The tiles may then be decorated and glazed. Glazed tile has a coating that makes it as smooth as glass.

A radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Bachelor of arts degree a ripoff?

NEW YORK (UPI) — In today's job market, does it make sense for Joe and Jane College to spend four years studying poetry or medieval history or painting and drawing?

These and other "majors" leading to the bachelor of arts degree, on the surface, seem highly unrelated to jobs listed in the help-wanted sections of papers.

So questions come up. To wit:

—Is the bachelor of arts degree a ripoff?

—Should the pursuit for such a degree be limited to those born rich, and not in need of a paycheck after the sheepskin?

Dr. John Hurt Fisher, a professor of English at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, was asked those questions during an interview in New York.

He was in town to preside at the annual meeting of the Modern Language Association. He was president when the meeting started. His term ended when the meeting did.

More than 9,000 from the languages —about half English teachers and the rest teachers of French, German, Spanish and such —were in attendance. Most are teachers in college fields, where majors lead to the arts degree usually.

Many young members were seeking jobs. Young English majors and their peers who majored in other languages drive cabs, take custodian's jobs and clerk in department stores. Some wait on tables.

The financial return on their expensive college educations hardly seems good. Ditto for the job satisfaction.

At the meeting many jobless young holders of bachelor's degrees sought to buttonhole department heads who do the hiring. To escape them many department heads from the colleges kept their name badges in their purses or pockets. They went incognito.

Dr. Fisher said the question in higher education should not be —Is an arts degree or a major in poetry or history a ripoff?

Rather, he said, one should address the real problem: How can the education establishment, in conscience, encourage around 60 per cent of high school graduates to go to college, preparing for white-collar work. There are not that many jobs requiring such preparation.

That's why you have persons with Ivy League degrees in English driving cabs in New York, according to Dr. Fisher. The Ivy League degrees are among the costliest. Tuition and room and board come to about $6,000 a year. The schools say the cost of a year to them is around $16,000 a year.

In 1924, when about 10 or 15 per cent of the population was in college, a Yale degree in English could be good preparation for becoming chairman of the board of Standard Oil.

Today a similar degree may put a Yale grad in the running with six other of his clasmates for a trainee's job, according to Dr. Fisher.

"In the running" doesn't mean the English major gets the job.

From the classifieds, jobs to shoot for would appear to be in computers, the food and hotel fields, engineering or business administration.

Training for such jobs is called skilling in educationese. It is so job-related that it is considered a first cousin of vocational education —hardly as highbrow as Chaucer or Keats.

Dr. Fisher feels the problem of the arts and humanities is the problem of higher education in general —the huge stampede for sheepskins.

He disputes the contention that any one field is more secure for job prospects than any other.

"There is a mystique among the young that some occupations are more secure, such as engineering, computers, the health fields," he said.

"There is no guarantee.

"I don't despair for the humanities. From as far back as you look, to ancient Greece and to ancient Rome and since, those schooled in the humanities have provided the leadership for the world. It is true today."

So if you want to spend that $20,000 or more for a bachelor's in poetry or French history, do so in good spirits.

All things being competitive, who knows, you might turn out to be a world leader. It's a little bit like a lottery, though.

Dr. Fisher said a lot of European countries have other ideas. Only 10 to 15 per cent of the young persons go on to higher education —and they must pass stiff tests showing they are qualified.

The academically fittest get the college degrees.
